CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Capt Virgil I. Grissom was officially named today as the astronaut chosen to make the second U.S. penetration into space Tuesday.

Selection of Grissom, 35, was disclosed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration less than 24 hours before he was due to take a 115-mile-high flight aboard a space capsule called "Liberty Bell 7." The flight is scheduled for dawn EST.

AS ARMS TALKS BEGIN

West Answers Berlin Threat

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The three major Western powers today were reported to have maintained their absolute right to remain in Berlin in notes handed over to Russia.

EAST GERMANY SAID READY FOR REVOLT

LONDON (AP) — The Sunday Times says there are signs that a new, anti-Communist uprising is brewing in East Germany as the Berlin crisis gathers pace.

A dispatch from a Times correspondent in Bonn says East German refugees arriving in West Berlin have given indications that underground workers are plotting a popular uprising on the lines of the revolt of June, 1953.

"It is said to be planned to coincide with the first drastic move by the Communist authorities to seal off West Berlin as an escape route to the West," the dispatch says.

BERLIN (AP) — A record flow of refugees from Communist East Germany brought some 4,000 into West Berlin during the weekend.

Tshombe Ailing

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga province today was ordered to stay in bed for several days because of a sudden attack of fever, it was announced here.

The American, British and French notes were handed over as John McCloy, President Kennedy's special disarmament assistant, began talks with the Russians on disarmament.

The purpose of McCloy's talks is to try to agree on a forum for a disarmament conference. The meeting follows a two-week session held previously in Washington.

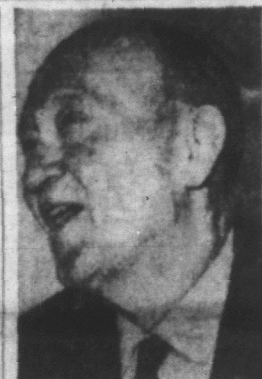

All three Western notes on Germany were reported to follow the same line, standing pat on Western insistence on continued rights of access to Berlin.

READY TO TALK

However, they also indicated readiness to enter talks on a German peace treaty while making it clear that the West would not accept dictated terms for such a treaty, informed sources said.

The American note replied to a Russian memorandum which was handed to President Kennedy during his talks in Vienna with Premier Khrushchev last month. The Russian memorandum called for a speedy German peace treaty.

The French and British notes replied to Russian communications on the same subject to British and French representatives at the Geneva talks on Laos several weeks ago.

TY COBB DEAD

All-time baseball great Ty Cobb died today in Atlanta, Ga., at the age of 74. Cobb had a lifetime batting average of .367 over 24 seasons, mostly as an outfielder with Detroit. He set 90 baseball records, some of which are still standing.

Canada Gets Blast From British MP

(See also page 5)

LEICESTER, Eng. (CP) — A British member of Parliament has criticized Canada's objections to possible British membership of the European Economic Community.

Woodrow Wyatt, labor MP for the Bosworth division of Leicestershire, said in a political speech that Canada has no right of veto.

"We cannot cripple ourselves economically because a few Canadians who never do anything for us might be slightly inconvenienced for the moment," he said.

Wyatt said Canada had been offered a chance to join an Anglo-Canadian free trade area in 1957.

"She chose instead to look toward America rather than to us."

'OLD MASTERS' TAKEN

$2 Million Art Theft

SAINT TROPEZ, France (AP) — Thieves stole 57 Impressionist paintings valued at nearly $2,000,000 from a museum here Sunday and carted them off by truck. It was France's biggest art robbery since the Mona Lisa was stolen in 1911.

WIRE BRIEFS

Strike Thursday

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cocktail bar and beer parlor employees will go out on strike Thursday if settlement is not reached earlier with 57 city hotels, a union spokesman said today.

BOAC Strike Goes On

LONDON (Reuters) — A strike of maintenance men at London Airport today crippled the nationalized British Overseas Airways Corporation service for the third straight day at a cost of $250,000 ($700,000) daily.

Planes Hunt Fires

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Lookout planes today began patrolling the area southwest of Prince George looking for fires started by a severe lightning storm Sunday.

Police Club Rioters

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australian police today made two club-swinging charges on an immigrant camp at Bonegilla, northeast of here, following an outbreak of unemployment rioting.

Some 600 demonstrators threw rocks, smashed windows and shouted abuse at camp officials in the rioting.

Falls Rider IBM Employee

(See Page 3)
NEW YORK (AP) — An executive of International Business Machines Corporation said today the man who survived a plunge over Niagara Falls in a rubber-coated steel ball during the weekend was an IBM porter, William Fitzgerald, using the pen name of Nathan Boya.

That new astronaut sez he's not a hero, and he's scared. If he succeeds, his next test will be to negotiate the Fountain Circle at 3 p.m.

And after meetin' with the heavenly bodys, Yuri Gagarin was introduced to Gina Lollobrigida and Liz Taylor.

That feller who swiped $2 million worth of impressionist paintings may not know anything about art—but he knows what he likes.

RAGING WIND, SLASHING HAIL END DROUGHT

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Million-dollar, drought-breaking rain showers swept across southern Alberta during the weekend and brought with them hundreds of thousands of dollars in hail and wind damage.

Hail the size of golf balls and tornado-like twisters caused extensive damage to cropland and demolished farm buildings in many districts of the south.

'Spelunkers' Trapped In Cave

ORLEANS, Ind. (UPI) — A flooded crawl hole and "fantastic suction" of the underground Lost River today blocked skindivers searching for two explorers trapped in an unmapped limestone cave.

Three skindivers wormed and crawled their way 800 feet into the flooded cave where veteran "spelunkers" Ralph Moreland and Thomas Arnold, both 25-year-old graduate students from Indiana University, disappeared Sunday.

But the skindivers couldn't get through the entrance of a "crawl hole"—a passage so narrow a man can barely squeeze through it. The crawl hole entrance was under seven to eight feet of water and skindiver James Langhammer said the suction of the water racing into it was "fantastic."

Beyond the crawl hole, local farmers said, is a cavern where a man might stand. It was conceivable that the young spelunkers had found safety in an air pocket somewhere beyond. The rescue operation hinged on that hope.

U.K. Stocks Slashed By Austerity Threat

LONDON (Reuters) — Millions of pounds today were slashed from prices on the London stock exchange in anticipation of austerity measures to deal with Britain's economic crisis.

Top industrial shares fell by up to two shillings (28 cents) in the first two hours trading and real estate investment shares were hard-hit by fears of curbs on building.

The pound, after opening firmer against the United States dollar, slipped back on the foreign exchange market and around noon was being quoted at $2.78 15-32.

The Canadian dollar fluctuated erratically, first easing 5-16 to $2.88 and then rallying to $2.88 15-32 against the pound.

Newspapers meanwhile took treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd's switch from a car to a motorcycle Saturday as symbolic of the belt-tightening facing Britons.

There were reports that the government might raise the bank rate from five to six per cent. The bank rate governs the amount people must pay to borrow money.

Steady Drain, Winter Work To Be Probed

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointment of a four-man special committee under the chairmanship of Ernest C. Gill of Toronto, president of Canada Life Insurance Company, to review the operations of the Unemployment Insurance Act was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The committee, with powers of a royal commission to call witnesses, also is being empowered to study and report on measures needed to deal with seasonal winter unemployment and to correct any abuses or deficiencies it may find in the insurance plan.

Other members of the committee are Etienne Crevier, president of La Prevoyance Assurance Vie of Montreal; Dr. Joseph Richard Petrie of Montreal, a consulting economist, and Dr. John Deutsch, vice-principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., who served as adviser to the special Senate committee on manpower and employment.

The new committee is the 11th such body appointed to carry out a special investigation of Canadian affairs since the Progressive Conservative government took power in 1957.

Mr. Diefenbaker, announcing appointment of the special committee following a morning cabinet meeting, declined to indicate when he hopes the committee will submit a report. He added:

"I want it at the earliest date we can get it."

He said the committee would hold public hearings, but he hoped that it would not have to travel outside of Ottawa.

It would be empowered "to inquire into and report on the suitability of scope, basic principles, and provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act."

Along with its study of seasonal unemployment benefits, the committee is being asked to look into the relationship between measures of support for the unemployed and other social security benefits.

At the start of the present parliamentary session last Nov. 17, the government announced it would bring in legislation to safeguard the basic purpose of the Unemployment Insurance Act, correct "abuses" and strengthen the insurance fund. This legislation was not introduced before Parliament recessed last Thursday for an eight-week summer break.

The fund had fallen to $110,051,922 last May 31 from its peak of $226,726,830 at Dec. 31, 1956.

The Commons public accounts committee, in a report July 1, said it "views with alarm the sharp reduction in the balance of the credit of the fund."

The committee recommended "that the entire matter undergo immediate and careful study and that action be taken to re-establish and maintain the fund on a basis consistent with insurance principles."

The committee said change in the Insurance Act and Regulations have broadened coverage given by the fund and decreased the emphasis on insurance principles recognized when the fund was established.

The government has had several warnings about the impact on the fund from growing levels of unemployment which have been higher at the end of each business cycle than they were after the previous cycle.

Last September the advisory committee to the Unemployment Insurance Commission recommended that the federal treasury put up $131,000,000 to replenish the fund to cover extra benefits paid to fishermen and to seasonal unemployed during the winter.

HURRY, HURRY!

VERNON (CP) — Several weeks ago, John A. Smith placed an advertisement with Vernon radio station CJIB. It said he had two female rabbits—both expecting—for sale. Apparently they didn't sell. Today, Mr. Smith placed a second ad. It read in part: "Choice of 35 rabbits, male and female."

VIET NAM ARMY KILLS 200 REDS IN BATTLE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Government troops driving into a rebel stronghold southwest of Saigon killed an estimated 200 Viet Cong Communists during the weekend in one of the bloodiest battles of the seven-year guerrilla war.

Military authorities said 187 Viet Cong dead were counted after the three-hour pitched battle in the swampy Plain des Jones (Plain of Reeds) about 60 miles from the capital.

They added, however, that several hundred Reds fled toward the nearby Cambodian border carrying numbers of dead and wounded.

Government losses were given as 12 dead and about 80 wounded.

LAOS TALKS

Two Months Later ... Still No Progress

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — "Many plays, no yards."

This is how one informant sums up the continuing 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos in which Canada is participating.

The conference stands exactly where it did when it opened in mid-May.

Neither side, Communist nor Western nations, has been willing to make any concessions. But neither has yet shown any readiness to walk out and kill the conference, called to try to immunize Laos from the cold war.

Despite the two-month stalemate at Geneva, the cease-fire between the warring sides in Laos is still in existence.

And it is apparently effective despite the fact the international truce supervisory commission there—Canada, India and Poland—is immobilized in the capital of Vientiane and hasn't been able to carry out a proper inspection of any trouble spot.

MADE RUSSIA ACT

Canada managed to push Russia an inch or two at the conference by its repeated insistence that the conference co-chairmen, Britain and the U.S.S.R., supply the commission with planes, helicopters, jeeps and communications equipment to carry out inspections.

Russia finally agreed that the equipment could be obtained from the Laotian factions themselves. But this wasn't much of a concession because the commission still has no equipment.

There is one school of thought that believes the mere presence of the commission, even if immobilized, is exerting sufficient deterrence on the groups which had been engaged in a civil war. Inspection teams ranging throughout the country might do no good and might even harm the present situation.

The conference is marking time in the hope that a national union government will emerge. Another meeting among the Laotians themselves is scheduled for Thursday.

Nobody here is guessing how long the Geneva conference may go on. External Affairs Minister Green has no immediate plans to return to Geneva.

Patents Blamed For Drug Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba government today suggested that the patent system in Canada is the basic cause for the high cost of drugs and a revision in patent law may be necessary.

In a brief to the restrictive trade practices commission, the provincial government said the patent system leads to excessive promotion and manufacturing costs.

The brief said the Manitoba government agrees with earlier commission findings that Canadian patent laws allow control to be exercised over the manufacture, distribution and sale of certain drugs and this has eliminated price competition.

"In our view," the brief said, "patents on drugs are possibly the major single reason for the present manufacturing, promotion and price situation in the drug industry in Canada."

ASK INVESTIGATION

The brief called for investigation of the whole pharmaceutical industry with an eye to lowering the high cost of drugs.

The elimination of price competition has led manufacturers into spending too much on promotion and other fields.

The Manitoba government said the manufacturer must bear some of the responsibility for the high and rising costs of drugs.

It said considerable price discrepancies showed up in a recent call for tenders for drugs to be used in Manitoba mental hospitals.

The quotations submitted ranged from 194 per cent to 491 per cent between high and low bidders.

In many instances the cost of promotion "has gone beyond all reason."

This is one vital reason why Canadians pay close to highest prices in the world for their drugs.

URGE GENERIC NAMES

The brief recommended that a closer study should be made by the government to find what controls can be applied to arrive at "more equitable distribution of promotion expenses."

The government also said that "considerable cost savings can be realized through the use of generic names" in the sale of drugs rather than through trade names.

'Sadism' Warning By Eichmann

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Adolf Eichmann conceded today that he had warned his superior officers of the danger that German extermination squads "would turn into sadists" as a result of mass shootings of European Jews. But he denied blistering cross-examination by Israeli Attorney-General Gideon Hausner that he had suggested gas chambers as "a more elegant way" of putting the Jews to death.

Niagara Falls Daredevil Fined

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Nathan T. Boya, 30-year-old daredevil who Saturday became the fourth person to go over Niagara Falls deliberately and live, today was fined $100 for the stunt.

Boya appeared in court in the brown print sport shirt and brown trousers he was wearing when he went over the Horseshoe Falls. He paid the fine, which Magistrate Johnstone Roberts said was the maximum for the charge.

Magistrate Roberts gave him the alternative of a month in jail.

Boya was charged with performing "an act which congregates or is likely to congregate persons, contrary to regulations" of the Niagara Falls parks commission without obtaining permission.

Defence counsel William T. Mars asked for a suspended sentence on the ground Boya had made no announcement of his intention before the plunge and did not intend crowds to gather.

He said there had been no public disturbance during the stunt.

RODE STEEL BALL

Boya, a Negro, from the Bronx, plunged 162 feet into the seething water at the base of the Horseshoe Falls in a steel-and rubber sphere.

"I was scared while I was going through the rapids," Boya said. "I wouldn't do it again for anything."

Survival Crackers On Sale Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—Survival crackers, much like animal crackers in taste, go on sale soon.

The National Biscuit Company announced Friday it will begin sales to civil defence agencies and industrial groups for stocking bomb shelters.

The minimum order accepted will be 10,000 pounds at 35 cents a pound, the company said. The crackers will not be offered in grocery stores.

The crackers were tested for two weeks recently by an official of the New York state health department.

Dr. John Browe subsisted on the crackers and two quarts of water a day, lost two pounds but said otherwise he felt fine.

They are made of wheat, corn and soy flour, cane and corn sugars, cottonseed oil for shortening, salt and leavening and are mildly fortified with vitamin B-1.

STRIKERS IGNORE ULTIMATUM

TORONTO (CP)—A union official said Sunday strikers have ignored an ultimatum from the Royal York Hotel which fires them unless they apply to return to work or quit by Sunday.

Onofrio Zambri, secretary-business agent of the Hotel and Club Employees Union (CLC), local 299, said not one striker signed a resignation or applied for work, as far as he knew.

Angus MacKinnon, manager of the hotel, said in a letter the strikers would be fired unless they resigned by July 16. A second letter offered strikers a return to work.

U-2 FLIGHTS SHOW

Cuba Building Missile Bases

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The national head of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said he has been informed by reliable sources in Washington that U-2 flights have been made over Cuba and they show missile bases are being built on the island.

The VFW commander in chief, Ted Connell, of Killeen, Tex., made the statement in a speech Saturday night to the Southern Conference of the VFW group.

"Only a few hours before I left Texas," Connell said, "I was informed by a reliable source in Washington of even another peril to this nation."

"I was told that U-2 flights have been made over Cuba, only 90 miles from the lower end of Florida. On the last flight of these planes over Cuba, films were taken. These films were developed in Washington."

"I was told that these films show definitely that there are missile bases being constructed in Cuba. And the photos offer conclusive proof that not one, but three of these bases are being built right now."

Toronto Workers Go Back to Jobs

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of immigrant construction workers went back to their jobs this morning, ending a turbulent strike which paralyzed Metropolitan Toronto's housing construction for 48 days.

A rally of 2,000 workers voted Sunday night to return to work after strike leader Charles Irvine told them weeks of negotiations with contractors had ended in a union victory.

He said terms of the contracts, involving many unions and about 10,000 workers, would be revealed this week.

Small Saving, Large Waste

TWO RECENT ITEMS OF NEWS remind us that Canada still has no effective defence policy after the longest session in the history of our Parliament.

First, the parliamentary public accounts committee, in an excellent report, says among other things that "ill-considered and wasteful" defence expenditures should be avoided.

To support this warning, it cites the case of a house built at St. Hubert, Quebec, for the chief of the air defence command at a cost of $79,600. This is certainly an example of extravagance but it represents small change in comparison with our total defence budget.

In 1959, when his government abandoned the Canadian-made Arrow plane, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "There can be no justification for spending millions or billions of dollars on any defence which is known to be potentially useless." The Arrow, he explained, or any other interceptor plane, would be useless against intercontinental ballistic missiles, which he foresaw as the basic threat by 1962.

That calculation was recently reversed. Instead of the Canadian Arrow, the government is buying 66 Voodoo jet interceptors from the United States. They are also useless against missiles. And we are spending about $125 millions for Bomarc bases and missiles that cannot attack missiles.

It is difficult, of course, perhaps impossible for the government to calculate the risks of Russian attack. While Mr. Diefenbaker thought, two years ago, that the real danger by next year would be Russian missiles, Russia apparently is still building new and faster bombers. For some time yet defence against bombers may be essential. All these sudden shifts in planning, however, cost a lot of money.

Besides, as the latest news from Washington indicates, the great shortage in North American defences is in conventional forces and weapons. President Kennedy is hurriedly trying to mobilize infantry divisions which would be needed for a conventional war if the ultimate nuclear war is avoided. He now confronts the emergency long foreseen by some of his military advisers—that the United States will be equipped to fight only the last war which no one can win.

The desperate need of conventional forces today supports Mr. Pearson's argument that Canada is spending its defence money mostly on the wrong things. He believes that Canada should not attempt to maintain nuclear forces or weapons but should concentrate its limited resources where they will do the most good, in mobile conventional forces for instant use in brush fire wars.

Doubtless Mr. Kennedy wishes that Canada had such forces ready to co-operate with those of the United States. They are alarmingly small in all the NATO countries.

In the case of Canada our efforts are spread too thin, as Mr. Pearson says, on bits and pieces that together do not make up a real defence policy. Finally the government has yet to decide whether it should accept nuclear weapons from the United States, as advocated by Mr. Harkness and opposed by Mr. Green.

Beside these yawning gaps in our defence planning the economies urged by the public accounts committee, though useful, are of small account.

Canada's Ukrainians

THE OTHER DAY MR. DIEFENBAKER made a graceful speech to a great gathering of Canadian Ukrainians in Winnipeg, where they had assembled to celebrate the memory of their national poet, Taras Shevchenko.

The Prime Minister is always at his best on such occasions. A few days earlier he had delivered one of the finest orations of his career when he unveiled an historic monument commemorating the heroic last stand of the Metis rebels at Batoche, Saskatchewan, near his home town of Prince Albert. He has a strong feeling for the history of Canada, especially the Canadian West, and a fine eloquence in articulating it.

As he said in Winnipeg, the Ukrainians have made a notable contribution to the nation's life. Only 70 years ago the first of these people set foot in Canada and now they and their descendants number nearly half a million. They have worked hard in many fields, from farming to the learned professions. As The Winnipeg Free Press notes, their farmers have won frequent world championships in grain growing while a high percentage of our agricultural experts are of Ukrainian descent. They have produced an extraordinary number of newspapers and periodicals. They have been active in politics, and sent six of their people to the Manitoba Legislature at the last election.

"Their musical, dancing and artistic talents," The Free Press says "have won for them an honored place in this country, both through their individual and collective efforts."

As the Winnipeg newspaper adds, "Canada's aim for its citizens from other countries should be national unity without uniformity. Canadians of Ukrainian descent are rapidly becoming an integral part of the Canadian nation, yet at the same time are making a unique contribution to it."

It is fit and proper that they should gather in a Canadian city, with the Prime Minister as their guest, to remember their national poet who has almost become a posthumous citizen of Canada by adoption.

Beyond Being a Russian

MAJOR YURI GAGARIN'S first greeting in Britain last week was formally restrained. He stepped from the silver Aeroflot TU 104 to be welcomed by officials who preserved an attitude correct but not enthusiastic.

Not so the crowds who stormed the Cosmic Hall at Earl's Court. There the tumultuous tribute to the first spaceman verged on hysteria. The people wanted to see and to cheer the man who had gone into orbit before any other in the space race. They chanted his name, forced police lines back and gave to him the treatment usually reserved for popular screen idols and royalty.

And the warmth of their reception was capped by an invitation to an informal luncheon with the Queen.

Major Gagarin, who insists against responses to the contrary that "I am still an ordinary mortal," can have left Britain only with a new concept of the warmth of her people, a new recognition of the fact that they belong to the same human family ready to bestow enthusiastic praise upon a member who has gained unique distinction.

Those who wish may point to the propaganda purposes served by the Gagarin visit to Britain—and none will discount Russia's effectiveness in this gesture. On the other hand, it seems obvious that the current No. 1 hero of the Soviets must be a somewhat different person in his attitude to people outside Russia as a result of the welcome he received.

The smiling young man who visited the cosmos has fostered good will two ways.

No Cluck Is Good Cluck

MAN MAY OCCASIONALLY wonder where he stands in the scheme of things as the mechanical brain takes over from him. Such speculation could be disquieting. How far should the process go?

Let him worry about that and spare a tear of sympathy for the chicken. According to word from Vienna, a Czech veterinarian has discovered a synthetic hormone to make a hen lay more eggs "by breaking her of the habit of clucking."

This is inhuman. Biddy now becomes only an egg-producing machine. There is no time allowed her for self-congratulation on the creation of a perfect, hard-shelled specimen. The hormone bends her to its will with the silent message "Okay. So you laid an egg. Quit talking about it and start on the next."

Progress, perhaps, and efficiency. But stop the lady from voicing a little modest pride in her work and even a hen will need psychiatric treatment.

Mr. Disney Made Him Wistful

THE skunk is doubtless the best-known member of the weasel family thanks to its infamous means of offence and defence, and yet despite its ability to spray the atmosphere and all creatures within range with an extremely potent fluid it is a popular character in cartoons, comics and ceramics. Undoubtedly Walt Disney's presentation of the skunk as a likeable and somewhat wistful creature is largely responsible.

The other members of the group are the weasels, martin, fisher, wolverine, otter and badger, a motley crowd of rather dissimilar mammals, varying greatly in their general appearance and in their habits. As a group they are definitely less well known, particularly by the public.

Despite the diversity evident in these animals they have one character in common—the possession of musk glands. These organs reach their highest development in the skunk, of course, and their possession is mainly responsible for the notoriety which these animals enjoy.

While their primary use in most members of the group is in providing a means of recognition among members of the same species, in the skunks the glands are put to a more specialized use, that of protecting the bearer from potential predators. So effective is the use of these glands for that purpose that skunks have developed a leisurely and independent attitude toward most other creatures including man and they even advertise their presence by bold markings of white and black, termed "warning coloration" by biologists.

While this disdainful regard of other creatures is usually highly effective towards the animals with which the skunk normally comes in contact it doesn't work against mechanical predators such as automobiles, as evidenced by the number of flattened skunks one sees along mainland highways.

Sinuous

In body form the weasels, martin, fisher, river otter and sea otter are much elongated and have short legs. As a result they have a characteristic sinuous movement whether on land or in water which greatly adds to their attractiveness in the eyes of most humans. The exceptions are the wolverine and the badger both of which are stockily built, especially the latter which has a broadly flattened body with wide shoulders supporting powerfully built forelegs, designed for excavating burrows.

One could hardly pick a group of closely related animals that differ so greatly in their choice of habitat. They literally range from mountain top to ocean depths. The wolverine roams the high country, overlapping to some extent areas occupied by martin, fisher and the various weasels of the lower levels. The martin prefers timbered areas in which it pursues and captures squirrels, its principal prey, often by leaping from tree to tree.

Wide Range

Weasels are found wherever small rodents abound and thus perhaps have the widest range of the lot. River otters and mink stick to the waterways where fish and other aquatic foods are available. The striped skunk and its cousin the spotted skunk frequent meadow land where they seek insect grubs, birds' eggs and similar tidbits. The badger, a specialist in digging out burrowing ground squirrels and similar rodents, is confined to more or less open country where these food animals are to be found, while the sea-otter, almost entirely aquatic, seldom leaves the sea.

The weasel group are represented on Vancouver Island by a half-dozen species. The mink and river otter are abundant, the martin and weasel moderately so. The wolverine is rare, fewer than ten individuals being recorded, and the sea-otter has been reported only once in recent years.

POPULATION EXPLOSION

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Up-Dating Professor Malthus

It is time that all of us, not just the experts, got a clear grasp of what we are reading about when the ominous phrase, "population explosion," comes into the headlines.

Is the population explosion somebody else's problem or is it everybody's problem, even bearing directly on the cold war?

The president of the Population Reference Bureau, Robert C. Cook, says that the central question which we must face—and answer—is: "Will human fertility be brought within bounds in time to avert a global tragedy?"

The "global tragedy" is such a rapid and relentless rise in population that underdeveloped countries tend to lose all prospect and all hope of relieving their grinding poverty.

"Among the most important elements in an effective attack on poverty and ignorance," says Mr. Cook, "is the universal application of technology to control fertility, to restore a balance of births and deaths, and thus check excessive growth. Essential to this is an understanding of basic arithmetic—that numbers per se are the enemy of quality living—that people who improvidently worship the stark doom their children and their children's children to poverty and despair."

The Story in Figures

Just how explosive is the population explosion? Is it really getting out of hand or are the experts trying to scare us? Here are the facts, here is the human multiplication of world population growth since 1650:

1650	1850	1920
5 billion	1 billion	2 billion
1960	2 billion
3 billion	6 billion

The significance of these figures is not just that total population is rising at break-neck speed, but that the rate of growth is rising at break-neck speed. The key fact is that the interval between doubling of the earth's population has shrunk from over three centuries when the Pilgrims came to Massachusetts to just 40 years. In other words, the rate of population growth is more than 750 per cent faster than at the time of the Pilgrims.

Study in Relativity

The Population Reference Bureau cites these figures:

To illustrate what this has meant already—the increase in the combined population of Africa, Asia, and Latin America in the seven years between 1953 and 1960 was larger than the total population of Europe in 1800.

To illustrate what this means today most of the nations of the less developed world must double their national incomes within 25 years just to maintain their present intolerable living standards.

To illustrate what this means for the future—if the population of Mexico continues to expand at its present rate for a century, it will reach 200,000,000, and in 30 years it will reach 30,000,000,000—10 times the total population of the world today.

To illustrate what this means to the United States—estimated U.S. population by 2050—one billion.

CHINA

More Mouths, Food Short

By HEDLEY RHODES

CHINA is now in the midst of its summer harvest, and though it may show some improvement over the poor crops of the past two years, the country's food supply is expected to remain critically short.

According to present official estimates reaching Hong Kong, China's total grain production this year may attain 220 million tons, believed equal to 1958. But the high population increase since then means that there are now an additional 50 million mouths to feed.

The inability of the Communist regime to provide sufficient food is the result of many factors. Droughts and floods have affected the wheat and rice fields. But, equally important, agriculture was set back by various programs, ranging from the vast attempt to create People's Communes, to such amateurish technical innovations as "close planting."

In addition, the severe strain put on the peasants has contributed to lagging production. Forced to work long hours on low calorie diets, many have become apathetic or ill. While there is no evidence of death from starvation, reports reaching Hong Kong agree that there has been an increase in the incidence of dropsy, tuberculosis, liver ailments and beriberi. All these complaints are associated with malnutrition.

Imports

China's leaders are well aware of this situation. They have spent valuable foreign currency to import more than five million tons of wheat, barley and flour from Canada, Australia and Western Europe. They have stopped shipments of foodstuffs to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. Peking banks are launching new bond issues to raise capital among Chinese abroad, and appeals have been made to overseas Chinese to increase remittances to their relatives on the mainland.

Judging from the refugees who stream into Hong Kong, conditions in the cities seem to be better than in the countryside—a peculiar twist on the usual food crisis. To some extent, this is probably the result of the government channelling agricultural products to factory workers and tolerating some form of black marketing.

An unskilled laborer recently arrived from Canton, for example, reports that his rice ration was six ounces per meal, about two bowlsful. He also received about seven ounces of sugar per month, and was able, at times, to buy vegetables, eggs and chickens on the "free market." His advantage over the peasant lay in his receiving a cash salary, which permitted modest purchases.

Four Ounces of Rice

In rural regions, however, rations are apparently not only lower, but peasants get only the minimal wage, and are thus unable to buy extra food. Food supplies vary markedly even within a small district, but most peasants report that their rice ration per meal averages about four ounces. Beyond that there was little else to eat. In some places they were given an ounce or two of oil per month, a bit of sauce made from maize, and about an ounce of sugar per month. Refugees say no body received pork except at the New Year celebration, when three or four ounces were distributed. One refugee from Kwanungtung Province claimed that his village had not had meat or fish for the past two years.

Most peasants blame their hunger on the government, and specifically on the Communist efforts of the past three years to achieve too much too quickly. In looking back to better days, however, they do not evoke a period before the Communist regime, but the years before the "great leap forward" when Peking was far less demanding of its people.

Those who are articulate enough to suggest solutions do not appear to believe in the possibility of an overthrow of Communist rule. Instead they seem to hope that Peking may ease its dynamic pace and show more consideration of human rights. —OFNS Copyt

Short on Light Money

Early this year, it was announced in the press that the Society for the Preservation and Maintenance of Craigdarroch Castle, with the permission of the Greater Victoria School Board, hoped to illuminate the Castle's towers this summer.

An estimate has been made by Hume and Rumble, and such lighting will cost at least $2,000. The society at the moment has only about $650. Therefore the work cannot be done this year.

However, the society hopes that further funds will be coming in, and that perhaps the lighting can be done next spring. As a 100th birthday present from the society to the city of Victoria.

He Wouldn't 'Go Along'

It is said by President Kennedy in his book "Profiles in Courage" that in Washington the best way to get along is to go along. Certainly the maxim didn't find a willing advocate in Mr. Coyne.

Of course, if he was the kind of man that Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fleming have painted him to be he would almost certainly have gone along with the government's thinking and would have continued to draw his cosy $50,000-a-year salary. To suggest, as the above, two gentlemen have suggested, that Mr. Coyne was lining his own nest on the pension issue is preposterous nonsense, typical of the Diefenbaker brand of politics.

Over 100 years ago John Stuart Mill noted in his famous essay on Liberty "The mercury, after the numerous instances memorable in history when the arm of the law was down, hit 95 today and employed to root out the best men. Are we not witnessing the old pattern once again in the Coyne affair?"

Can Cousins Marry Safely?

Emmett Consultants in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and American Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation. Quite a few people write saying that they have married a cousin and now they are afraid to have children. The important point is that marrying a cousin can only reinforce a tendency to some disease if it happens to run in the family. If no serious disease runs in the family, then a marriage of cousins need do no harm.

Alvarez

I knew a man who married his niece and had a number of children by her. These youngsters were all healthy, probably because the couple came of very sturdy sane stock.

On the other hand, I have known some cousins who married and had some defective children, apparently because in their family there was a strong tendency to mental disease. If I were a young man wanting to marry a cousin, I would like to sit down for a chat with a genetic counsellor at some university. He might tell me what chances my children, if I had any, would have of being afflicted with some hereditary disease.

VERTIGO—WHAT IS IT?

I have a booklet on dizziness, but I will say here that vertigo means a feeling of whirling around. There are a number of types. In younger persons the disease is likely to be in the inner ear. There it must be associated with some deafness, usually in one ear.

In sudden spells, the world or the patient may seem to spin around. The patient may fall down and he may get badly nauseated and may vomit.

A doctor may speak of a labyrinthitis. The labyrinth is in the inner ear. A number of remedies will be tried but I have no enthusiasm about their efficacy.

In some persons the disease is in the cerebellum—the small part of the brain which does much to give us our sense of balance. In rare cases, when the trouble is a tumor in the brain, or on a nerve to an ear, it can be removed by a neurosurgeon. In the cases of millions of old people, "vertigo" is not quite the right word because usually in them all that they feel is a sudden loss of the normal good sense of balance. The person will fear he will fall down but he rarely does.

Usually, in these cases, a good ear specialist finds nothing wrong with the ear. Sometimes the blood pressure is high, and there may be signs of hardening of the arteries. Often the man has what I call the little strokes which do not cause any loss of speech or loss of strength, but produce "dizzy" or "woozy" spells which may be followed by some loss of memory, of ability, and of self-control. Unfortunately, many of the dizzy spells of older people cannot easily be cured.

If you are suffering from dizziness or head noises, you want to read my booklet, "Head Noises and Dizziness." You may obtain it by sending 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Victoria Daily Times, The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Box 957, Des Moines 4, Iowa.

FAMILY STUTTERING

I just received a letter from a fine intelligent woman who tells me her boy is having much trouble with speech difficulties. She says that this is the third generation in the family in which there is this type of trouble. Fortunately, most of the persons have grown out of it as they have grown older. There is the boy, his father, and the father's father, and a number of cousins—all having trouble in talking.

What angers this mother is that when she took her son to a "speech centre" and mentioned what to her seemed to be an obvious hereditary tendency, the people jeered at her.

Some experts said that the boy stuttered because the mother expected him to do it. When the mother maintained that she suspected a hereditary influence, the "experts" argued that no book mentions it. If they had ever looked in my book, "Practical Leads to Puzzling Diagnoses"—a study of what actually happened in 673 unfortunate families—they would have found my notes on several families in which stuttering kept showing up again and again.

Senor's Powers Curbed

MADRID, Spain (Reuters).—New laws approved Saturday by the Spanish parliament constituted an important landmark along the path of feminine emancipation in Spain.

They open up a wide range of jobs to women for the first time, from bus conductor to ambassador and including many posts in the public administration.

They also shake the foundation of masculine supremacy in the Spanish home by curbing senior's former sweeping powers over his seniors.

Until now a Spanish wife needed her husband's signature to obtain a passport or even to sell any part of her own property. Now the husband's authority will be taken for granted unless he initiates an objection, in which case the wife has the right to take her case to law.

BRITISH Aviation Minister Peter Thorneycroft returned to London today from Ceylon, Pakistan and India, and said none of those countries would obstruct Britain's entry into the six-nation European Common Market. "I think I found it clear that the countries I visited think it is the responsibility of the United Kingdom to decide whether or not to join the six," he said.

Coyne Affair Linked To Sandys Rebuff?

LONDON (CP)—The Financial Times says there is a link between the Canadian government's "distinctly icy reception" of Duncan Sandys, secretary of state for Commonwealth relations, and its squabble with James Coyne, former governor of the Bank of Canada.

"On the most immediate level," the newspaper says in an editorial, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his colleagues "are clearly so concerned about the decline of their own standing in the country that they were unable to make any concessions at all to Mr. Sandys."

"As a government which will have to face the electorate fairly soon, they felt obliged to champion all existing Canadian special interests under the Commonwealth preference system with regard to possible long-term benefits which might accrue to Canada as well as the U.K. if the latter joins the Common Market."

Coyne's message, says the Financial Times, has been that Canada must rely on its own financial resources to develop the economy and that reliance on American capital is politically dangerous and economically enervating.

Diefenbaker's message has been similar, the newspaper adds, since his government announced at the outset its aim of diverting more trade from the U.S. to the U.K.

African Women Set to Organize

CONAKRY, Guinea (Reuters).—Representatives of nearly 30,000 West African women will meet here during the last 10 days of July to discuss women's and children's rights and opportunities in an Africa moving toward full independence.

The conference is the fruit of a seminar held last August at Ibadan University, in Nigeria, and a preparatory committee meeting at Accra last May.

It is hoped here that the conference will decide to set up a permanent African women's organization.

'Real' Competition Ahead For Canada if U.K. Joins

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's determined opposition even to the first tentative step toward possible Common Market membership shows the dark view Canada takes of the possible consequences.

Just how hard Canadian exports would be hit if Britain joined the six-nation Common Market can't be accurately measured now.

But one senior trade official summed it up this way: "Then we really have competition."

The situation is up in the air until Britain decides whether or not to sit down at the conference table with the Common Market six. The Canadian government, after three days of talks last week with U.K. Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys, voiced "grave concern" at what would be implied, even in a British decision to negotiate.

U.K. BIG CUSTOMER

At stake is the future of a British market for Canadian goods that informants say could be close to the $1,000,000,000 mark this year. The U.K. is Canada's second-biggest export customer, taking about $1 of every $6 in goods shipped from the country.

Since post-war British restrictions on goods from Canada and other dollar countries largely disappeared in 1950,

Canadian sales to Britain have boomed. A big trade surplus entered Britain duty free. Some with the U.K. has helped ease the strain of Canada's heavy deficit in United States trade. Canadian officials don't want to see this happy situation ended by a new kind of trade trouble.

CANADA ASSURED

United Kingdom spokesmen have given assurances that Britain wouldn't feel able to join the Common Market if, in negotiations, it wasn't able to secure special arrangements to protect the trade interests of Commonwealth partners.

There is scepticism here and in other Commonwealth capitals over how effective any such arrangements could be in bridging the wide gap between two very different trade situations.

One situation is the Commonwealth tariff preferences enjoyed by Canada in the United Kingdom market. Virtually all Canadian goods—97 per cent—entered Britain duty free. Some non-Commonwealth goods also enter duty free. But on most manufactured goods from non-Commonwealth sources, Britain levies a tariff of 17½ or 20 per cent.

The other situation is the common tariff wall being erected around the Common Market—a customs union.

If Britain went behind that tariff wall with no special arrangements, tariffs on many Canadian goods—but by no means all—would rise.

Of equal or greater concern to Canada is the gradual creation, behind the common tariff wall, of free trade among Common Market countries unfettered by tariffs.

This could mean—in theory at least—that British tariffs might increase on many Canadian goods while declining on competitive products from the Common Market area.

'UNEXPECTED'

U.K. Braced for Lloyd Proposals

LONDON (CP)—The announcement by Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, that he will outline plans for dealing with Britain's economic crisis a week from today has stirred wide speculation on what he has in mind.

In a stern weekend speech at Hawarden, Wales, Lloyd said he was determined to recommend the necessary action "however unpopular or unexpected."

Generally the "unpopular" has been interpreted to mean a freeze on wages, particularly those of civil servants, and possibly an end to some borrowing.

It is the "unexpected" that has many people puzzled.

Several London papers suggest that Lloyd may be planning long-term measures against the country's basic economic problems.

USE FIRM APPROACH

The Daily Telegraph says that Lloyd, and presumably his cabinet colleagues, appear "to have outgrown the aspirin approach to economic difficulties."

"There is evidence in his Hawarden speech that the chancellor is thinking beyond the purely negative approach of temporary retrenchment. He seems to accept the necessity for tackling the fundamental causes of the country's economic weaknesses while they are still marginal and therefore amenable to treatment."

Says The Daily Mail: "If we were to get the same old crisis routine we should despair. All the decrees so far produced by all the chancellors have been palliatives. They have not touched the basic faults in our economy which arise from complacency and inelasticity of mind."

MAY USE NEW POWER

Lloyd's delay in announcing his plans is regarded as an indication he intends to use the new power of the controversial finance bill, which will not become law until Wednesday.

An important provision is the power to raise taxes on consumer goods up to 10 per cent.

Hugh Gaitskell, Labor opposition leader, said in a weekend speech at Durham "that the Conservative government's policies had damaged Britain's long-term strength for short-term party gain. The policy had produced industrial stagnation, rising prices and trade deficits."

Tiger-Flower Star Attraction

An interesting and vividly beautiful summer flowering plant is tigridia, sometimes called Tiger-flower, sometimes known as Mexican Shell-flower.

Hilda

Native from Mexico to Chile, tigridia belongs to the iris family and is grown from fleshy corms.

The spectacular blossoms, having three petals, measures five or six inches across and come in bright scarlet with maroon spots, deep yellow, soft pink and, rarely, white with maroon spots.

Although individually the blossoms fade just before sundown, each stem bears a succession of three or four so that the season is extended through July and August.

DRAWING CARD

No garden visitor is likely to miss asking about tigridia if you have a group in bloom, and it certainly makes an interesting enough drawing card to take you out into the garden first thing every morning to see what colors are making their appearance for the current day.

Since the fleshy corms are not resistant to frost, or to excessive winter rain, I find the easiest way to handle tigridia is to grow several corms in seven-inch pots. They can then be started growing in early March indoors. The pots can be sunk to their rims in a sunny spot outdoors by the beginning of June, where they will flower. The pots are lifted before frost and taken under cover.

They may be set in a cold frame to finish the season, and ripen the leaves, later being put into a frost-free cool place for the winter.

REPORTED

The corms will remain in the pot of dry soil until the end of February. They are then reported into a rich soil to restart the growing cycle for summer flowering. A sunny window for spring will bring them along fine and they will be about a foot high by the time they are put out in their pots in June.

JUMPING INTO THE NEWS

Leaping athletes who made sports news over weekend were Bill Virdon (left), Russia's Valery Brumel (centre) and Mickey Mantle. Brumel broke world high jump record Sunday when he cleared bar at seven feet, four inches in U.S.-Russia track meet at Moscow. Virdon, Pittsburgh outfielder, leaps high to reach over fence and rob San Francisco's Willie Mays of home run in National League game Saturday. Mantle is on way down after jumping catch of drive by Chicago's Jim Landis. New York outfielder crashed into wall but held on to ball in Saturday American League clash. (AP Wirephotos.)

ARNIE WON'T COMPLAIN ABOUT ENGLISH CLIMATE

LONDON (AP) — Arnold Palmer, as modest and unassuming in victory as he is in defeat, wasn't ready to make cracks about the English climate, as he prepared to fly home Sunday with the British Open golf championship safely in his keeping.

"Why should I complain about this climate? I think it's beautiful—just beautiful."

At one time it looked as though Palmer might be robbed of a chance for the title by torrential rain which flooded the course and raised the specter of total abandonment.

"If the championship had been called off, I might have had a few hard thoughts about English summer weather," Palmer said. "But now I've got no complaints—no complaints at all."

The 31-year-old Latrobe, Pa., star snatched the title Saturday by one stroke from a fighting little Welshman, 48-year-old Dai Rees. Palmer finished with a four round total of 70-73-69-72—284. Rees, British Ryder Cup team captain, had 68-74-71-72—285, and Christy O'Connor, Ireland, and Neil Coles, England, were tied at 288.

Young Jack Longs For World Rating

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jacky Cupit, a determined young golfer who wants to become the world's best, is the 1961 Canadian Open champion.

The blond 23-year-old from Texas, who joined the professional golf circuit only last May, played cautiously over the par 36-34—70 Niakwa Country Club course Saturday to take a 71 and finish the 72-hole open with a total score of 270—10 under par.

The crew-cut rookie had a five-stroke edge over his nearest opponent at the finish and took away top prize money of $4,300.

Jacky's brother, Buster Cupit, Dow Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., and Bobby Nichols, of Midland, Texas, tied for second place money of $2,333 each with 275 scores.

Toronto's Al Baiding and Vancouver's Stan Leonard tied with 278 for the best Canadian scores. They will play off later for the Rivermead Cup and top share of a special $1,000 Canadian prize list, probably during the Canadian Professional Golf Association tournament at Quebec.

Although it was Jacky Cupit's first major tournament victory, he has been in the money in all but three of his first 18 events. His winnings now total more than $17,400.

Four amateurs played in the final round, with Ted Homehuik of Winnipeg scoring a 76 for a total of 301 for top honors and a gold medal.

Leading money-winners: Jacky Cupit ($4,300), Dow Finsterwald ($2,333), Buster Cupit ($2,333), Bobby Nichols ($2,333), Johnny Patti ($1,500), Mac Mann ($1,500), Tony Letna ($1,500), Bruce Hill ($1,500), Al Baiding ($1,000), Stan Leonard ($1,000), Bob Goolby ($750), Bob Goolby ($750), Tom Newberry ($750), Jack Fleck ($750), Charles Safford ($750), Phil Rodgers ($750), George Knudson ($750), Jerry Steinhilber ($500), Dave Bacon ($500).

Transports Sew Up Top Playoff Berth

They could wrap up the Senior Amateur Baseball League schedule right now and start playoffs.

Transport Workers have clinched first place in the circuit and it seems Wakeman & Trimble couldn't climb out of last place if you lit a fire under the team.

Only second and third spots are still to be decided but since those two teams will meet in the playoffs, little will be decided in remaining games on the schedule.

Transports clinched top spot on Saturday afternoon by beating Naval Veterans twice. The losses pushed the Vets into third place since Hotel Douglas edged Wakeman & Trimble, 6-5, Saturday night.

The Workers won the first game, a completion of a game tied after eight innings on July 4 by scoring four runs in their half of the "ninth" inning after the Vets had led off with two. They trampled the Vets 14-6 in the second contest.

Nanaimo Poses Threat; Vets Lead Rout of Vics

NANAIMO — Nanaimo has been floundering through most of the Inter-City Lacrosse League season, but you can put the Coaltown crew down as a team to watch in playoff battles.

Gradually getting their veteran stars in action and into condition, the Nanaimo boxers turned loose a mighty display of scoring power Saturday night to crush Victoria 22-12 before 1,317 fans.

Victory all but clinched the third and last playoff spot for Nanaimo, which now leads last-place Victoria by 11 points with nine games remaining for each club.

Don Ashbee and Jack Bionda paced the scoring parade, and may have set a modern league record as each fired seven goals. The all-time league mark is 11 goals, set in 1941 by Bill Tyler of New Westminster Salmonbellies. Since that time lacrosse nets have been made smaller.

THREE FOR ALLAN
Bionda also had three assists and Ashbee one. Bobby Allan, improving in condition each time out, collected three goals and four assists.

Ron Jay and Al Davies each counted four times for the Vics and Bill Gray fired two tallies.

Barry Forbes took over in the Victoria nets for Gordie Johnston, who is in eastern Canada with his ailing father. Forbes played the first quarter, then was replaced by Chummy Crabbe after being hit in the throat by a ball.

PLAY IN JAMBOREE

Tiger Tykes Rate Attention

Four players from Saanich Tigers put in a solid bid for inclusion in the midget-division action in tonight's Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association jamboree at Memorial Arena by dividing 23 goals Saturday at Stevenson Park.

The four tykes handled all the Saanich Tigers' scoring as they chewed up Victoria City, 23-6, certainly qualifying for all-star selection.

Dave Tudor scored nine goals, Dennis Sommer added six, Dan Sprinkling tossed in four and got four assists, and Bill Majorski went one better by scoring four times and getting five assists.

This action is relatively typical of the type of thing that goes on in the flyweight and peewee divisions of the association. It can prove as entertaining as the more-skilled juvenile action, but all will get a chance to display their talents tonight.

The program will be kicked off with a flyweight game at 6:45. Then will follow the midgets at 7:20, the peewees at 8 p.m., and the bantamweights at 9:15. The juvenile game will wrap things up.

Official opening ceremonies will be held at 8:30. Mayor Percy Scurrell and Rev. Canon George Biddle will officiate.

Tickets to the jamboree are priced at 50c for adults. Children under 12 get in free. A total of 10 door prizes, topped by a suit of clothes and a transistor radio, will be offered.

All teams are asked to be on hand at least half an hour before game times.

Schloredt Shines In Squad Tussle

Fires Two Scoring Passes; Leos Show Balance, Power

By DOUG PEDEN

COURTENAY — Life of a football coach wouldn't seem normal without problems and Wayne Robinson was doing his usual quota of serious thinking Sunday evening as he rounded up his brawny B.C. Lions and herded them back towards Vancouver.

But even four Wayne would have to admit that his pre-season trouble burden has never been lighter in his three seasons as chief pilot of the Western Football Conference club.

Robbie, as usual, wasn't doing much talking, but some of his problems reared their pesky heads Sunday afternoon as the Lions wrapped up their two-week training camp in this friendly little town with their annual inter-squad game.

What Robbie saw in the hard-hitting scramble should have left him reasonably happy—for a football coach.

The Lions have never packed so much balance and power into pre-season exhibition games, which start against the Argonauts Thursday at Toronto.

For the record, the white-sweatered Tyees rode to a 12-8 comeback victory over the black-clad Cohoes on the passing arm of Bob Schloredt, the wonder boy of last season's University of Washington Rose Bowl champions.

Schloredt, who played the first half like an all-American bust, took charge in the second half with a touch of brilliance that made him a prime candidate to take over the No. 1 signal-calling spot from Jim Walden, the second-year passing expert who is expected to open the season as first-string quarterback.

Bob Heaved Winning Pass 65 Yards

Earl Keeley, the Vancouver product who is in his fourth year with the Lions, divided some playing time at quarterback between both squads. He handled his chores better than Schloredt did in the opening half and just about as well as Walden. But, in the closing quarter, the quarterback stage belonged exclusively to the one-eyed wonder.

In order to minimize chance of injuries, there were no run-backs on punts and Neal Beaumont, whose punting was a feature of the tussle, boomed a long one into the end zone for a single in the second quarter to get the Cohoes ahead. Then Walden pitched a touchdown strike to end Bruce Claridge and burly George Grant booted the conversion to put Walden's club out in front 8-0 at the half.

Schloredt, appearing to gain confidence in the third canto, took over in the final quarter and fired touchdown passes to end Jim Coles and halfback Willie Fleming. Grant, also using his talents for both clubs, missed one conversion attempt, had the other blocked by Bruce Claridge.

The game-winning pass to Fleming should have ended hints that Schloredt couldn't throw the long ones. It was an electrifying 65-yard heave that will-o-the-wisp Willie gathered in over a shoulder, shifted away from two defenders and scooted the remaining 17 yards to the end zone.

Schloredt, who also flashed strong running and some good defensive work, almost moved the Tyees to another TD in the waning seconds.

Watched by an enthusiastic crowd of about 3,700 fans that included 3,450 paying customers, the game was a scramble at times, as expected, but produced more good football than is normally presented in inter-squad tussles.

Out of it came the impression that the Lions' have the toughest and most talented squad they have yet assembled, should make the Western Conference playoffs and may need only a few good breaks to be shooting for first or second place.

Fleming again proved the Lions will always be dangerous as long as they have him operating in a halfback spot. Fleet Willie thrilled the crowd every time he packed leather and got away for several good gains. But he was the only halfback to turn in a stand-out game.

Despite heavy hitting there was only one casualty, End Ed O'Bradovich, who was a one-man wrecking crew on defence and a terror on offence, limped off the field late in the third quarter. Later his painful injury was diagnosed as a bruised thigh muscle that shouldn't keep him out of action more than a week.

There were enough mistakes and disappointments to keep anybody from counting tills at this stage. Biggest danger point appeared to be pass defence, which could be shoddy enough to kill the Leos unless Robinson is getting a lot more mileage out of his defenders by BAASTAD, Sweden (AP) — Susan Butt, of Victoria, was defeated in the semi-finals in the Baastad international tennis championships. Miss Butt lost to Bejma Gunderson, of the United States, 6-2, 6-4.

The ladies' title went to Vicki Berner, who defeated Pam Hunter, 6-2, 6-0. In the ladies' doubles, Natalie Rogers and Pam Hunter scored an upset victory over the top-seeded Clare Lovett and Vicki Berner, 6-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Jim Skelton and Art Jeffery scored an upset victory in the men's doubles, defeating the defending champion team of Laurence Barclay and Jack Pedlar 7-5, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Brumel Cracks Record

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians agreed to keep separate men's and women's scores in the weekend track meet against the United States, but today they were trying to explain that, after all, it's the grand total of victories that counts.

The United States met whipped the Russians 13-9 in events and 124-111 in score based on a 5-3-2-1 scale in the third of the series of their clashes that ended Sunday in rain. Soviet women won 68-39.

Valery Brumel, Russia's wonderful, teen-ager, smashed the world high jump record by clearing 7 feet 4 inches under wretched conditions, and Ralph Boston, of Tennessee State, topped his own pending world broad jump record of 27 feet 1 1/2 inches, by soaring 27 feet 1 1/2 inches.

America's John Thomas cleared 72 in the high jump but missed three times at 74, although he was almost over on his last shot.

Baseball Fatality

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Gary Teeple, 21, struck on the temple by a pitched baseball Thursday night, died in hospital Saturday.

Teeple was wearing a protective helmet at the time of the accident but it slipped as he turned from a straight, fast pitch.

Victoria Shot Earns Tyro Prize at Bisley

BISLEY, England (Reuters) — Two Canadians shot second best scores in the Daily Telegraph rifle competition at the Bisley meeting Saturday.

Cadet Lt.-Col. T. J. Enright of Renfrew, Ont., and WO2 N. L. Beckett of Ancaster, Ont., were among 44 riflemen with 49 of 50 points in the match calling for 10 shots at 300 yards. Enright finished 13th and Beckett 34th.

Younger members of the Canadian team, Pte. D. L. Moffatt of Victoria and Cadet Lt. D. E. Bellamy of Prince George, B.C., won tyro prizes with 47.

Lieut. P. K. Isaac of Winnipeg qualified with 49 of 50. With three other competitors to fire a shoot-off Tuesday for second place in the Alexandra Cup at 600 yards range.

It's easy to say hold that Tiger, but what do you do when there's a pair of 'em like Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash on the loose?
Nobody could hold either Sunday, much less both, and that in a nutshell is the reason why Detroit Tigers are back on top in the American League today.

Between them, Colavito and Cash ripped Kansas City's pitching for 16 total bases and 12 runs batted in during a doubleheader. Detroit swept the two games, 11-1 and 8-3, thus taking over first place by one percentage point from the New York Yankees, who beat Baltimore Orioles, 2-1.

FIVE BRIS
Colavito drove in five runs in the nightcap with his 23rd and 24th homers, while Cash, who contributed a three-run double in the opener, belted his 25th home run with one on in the nightcap. Rookie Dick McAuliffe also homered in the second game to help Phil Regan to his ninth victory.

Southpaw Don Mossi limited the A's to five hits in the opener and contributed a home run to his own cause. Al Kaline hit his 11th homer off loser Jim Archer.

In other AL games, Cleveland Indians took the opener from the Minnesota Twins, 7-5, but dropped the nightcap, 12-5; Los Angeles Angels beat Washington Senators, 11-2, then lost the second game, 4-3, in 10 innings, and Boston split with Chicago, the White Sox winning the opener, 4-3, and the Red Sox taking the 12-inning nightcap, 5-3.

Cincinnati's lead in the National League was sliced to five games when Chicago

Title to Nannimo
NANAIMO (CP)—Nanaimo Saturday defeated Langley 12-3 to win the B.C. bantam boys' softball championship best-of-three finals in two straight games. Nanaimo won the first game 5-3.

Pats Still Hoping For Playoff Berth

Pro Pats continue on the trail of a Senior "B" Men's Softball League playoff spot tonight.

Pats tangle with Navy at Heywood Avenue park in a 6.45 game that could make or break their chances to wind up in the hoop's fourth and last playoff berth.

The Pats are currently two games back of the Tars with three games remaining. If they win tonight, they could force a tie for fourth place. If they lose, the sailors are in.

Maycock Optical unscrambled things somewhat Sunday at the front end of the pack. Maycocks trimmed Chinese Students 12-7 to take over sole possession of first place as Lyle Cornett set the plate

Island Crown To View Royal

View Royal Fire Chief Al Beasley wouldn't have it any other way.

The Beasley-coached View Royal boys' softball team "blow hot" at the weekend to claim the Vancouver Island juvenile championship with a two-straight victory over Nanaimo.

The Colwood and District League champs won Saturday's game 11-8 and followed it up with a 13-9 decision Sunday. They now journey to Vancouver next weekend for the provincial final.

Incogs in Sight Of League Title

Incogs were reaching for the Victoria and District Cricket Association championship today, and Nanaimo was reaching for headache pills.

The Incogs all but mathematically wrapped up the league title Saturday, scoring their ninth straight victory by beating Albions by 28 runs. A good bowling performance by Chris Fibiger (six for 15) and Al Gower (three for 14) enabled Incogs to dismiss Albions for 36.

Nanaimo, struggling to stay ahead of Alcos in the battle for second-to-last place in the seven-team circuit, managed to lose twice.

After chalking up a fair 131 against Five Cs on Saturday, the Nanaimoites watched their opponents pick up 132 markers for the cost of only four wickets. Ken Greenwood batted for 77 not out and Jim Richards bowled over five Nanaimo wickets for 34 runs.

Sunday Nanaimo lost to Cowichan, scoring only 88 all out, to which Cowichan replied with 89 for seven. George Ellis provided the sole bright spot for Nanaimo as he took seven wickets for 36. Bill Murray was Cowichan's star,

Stewart Again Betters Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mary Stewart of Vancouver Saturday bettered her own unofficial world record for the 110-yard women's butterfly swimming event for the second time in a week. But she was slower this time than a week earlier.

Miss Stewart, 15, finished the event in 1:10.7 at the British Columbia age-group swimming and diving championships here. It was one-tenth of a second better than the world mark held by Dawn Fraser of Australia, but was slower than the 1:10 flat she registered for the event in Tacoma, Wash., July 9.

Mary had almost no competition in the race. Sherry Mahan, who finished second, was 21 seconds behind her. "We had a false start," the star said Sunday. "Without it I could perhaps have done better. It made me nervous."

RECORDS FALL
Eight Canadian records were broken during the day. The record-breakers included one Victorian, Eric Grossman. Grossman's mark came in the 11-12 boys' age division when he did the 55-yard free-style in 31.2, beating the old record by a tenth of a second.

At Beacon Hill Sunday, Ray Robbins batted for 20 runs to spark West Vancouver to a 17-run victory over Five Cs in a friendly match. Gil Ferreira was Victoria's standout, claiming seven wickets for 27 runs. Final score was Five Cs 40, West Van 57.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

STOCKHOLM — Still lean and handsome and only 43, Bill Holden, a self-made millionaire, today is "Mr. Nice Guy" of the movies—a chauffeured Chrysler Imperial takes him to the set but he rides in front beside the driver.

It's unusual to find such a successful star so free of temper and foibles—you just can't locate anybody who'll bum-rap Bill.

Yes, Bill Beede from O'Fallon, Ill., has it made on a couple of continents and is now trying it on a third. Sitting in the Apollo Hotel here one recent rainy afternoon, he spoke of his longing to return to Africa, where he has an interest in the Mount Kenya Safari Club in Nanyuki, East Africa.

"It's like a disease with me. I keep wanting to go back," he said.

"Africa's your Palm Springs," I suggested.

"Not mine—YOURS!" he exclaimed, for as practically everybody knows, he's given up the California scene to live in Switzerland.

VIOLENT COUNTRY

"No, it's not a place where you want to stretch out and rest," Holden said. "Africa's terribly primitive. It's still a country of violence. It's like our west was 100 years ago. Our west was still pretty rough in 1861. It had to grow up."

Holden'll soon be taking his sons, 14 and 17, and his wife, the former star Brenda Marshall, on another safari.

"Any kind of a trip there is a safari," he explained. "I'm not interested in shooting any more. I've done that."

Wasn't it dangerous? The Mau Mau...?

"There has been some Mau Mau activity and there have been a few people lost recently," Holden admitted.

Partly to counteract that, Holden and his Palm Springs partner, Ray Ryan, and Carl Hershman, a Swiss banker, have started a free school to teach trades eventually.

"But first you teach them Swahili and then you teach them English," he said.

All this seemed far removed from the business at hand—finishing a picture here among the Swedes, "The Counterfeit Trail," and starting another one in London with France Nuyen.

And a quick hop home to Switzerland for the weekend. It's a delightful merry-go-round for the former air corps lieutenant, who occasionally takes off for Hong Kong, where he owns a third of a radio station. It's especially delightful since he's added Africa to the regular itinerary.

"Africa is fascinating and it's fabulous!" he said.

HE'S A HERO

Pretty fabulous, too, is Eric Erickson, the former Brooklyn kid and Cornell athlete whom Bill portrays in "The Counterfeit Trail." Now 71 but looking 60, Erickson is a hero here in Sweden because he posed as a Nazi sympathizer and spied for the Allies in the Second World War.

Holden expects to live in Switzerland indefinitely, at Lausanne, where Norman Krasna, Jack Palance, Charlie Chaplin, Noel Coward and others have homes.

"My home is Switzerland and would be, with or without tax laws because I want the children to be educated there," Holden explains. "They will return to the United States for two years of university education and will come back to Europe to finish up."

The Holdens are celebrating a 21st wedding anniversary. They had a spectacular Nevada honeymoon. Each had to have an appendectomy.

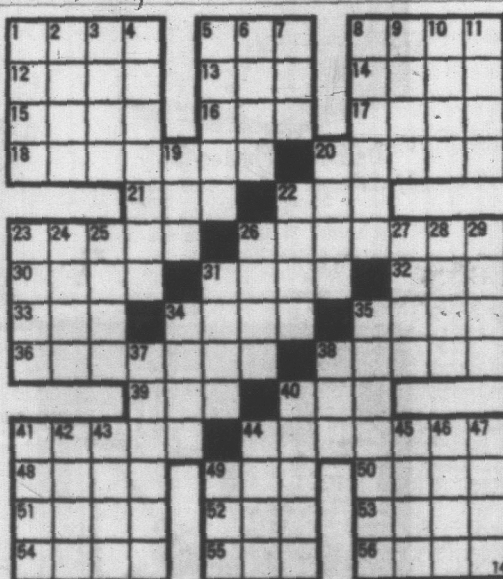

THE WEEKEND WINDUP IN NEW YORK: One of the new top comedian-entertainer chaps, big in concerts, is concealing the fact he wears a toupee... The London Times grows that N.Y.'s Metropolitan Museum of Art, with its 25 Rembrandts, is unfair to Manhattan's army of workers with its 5 p.m. closing because they can never visit it without giving up the "rare fresh air of their weekends." It suggests JFK do something... James Thurber is working on another new idea for B'way: four 30-minute comedy skits.

EARL'S PEARLS: One bachelor put it this way to Tony Petito: "I'd rather have people asking me why I never married, than why I did."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Walter Slezak says his TV set has brought him a lot of pleasure this summer—he swapped it for a hammock and a case of beer.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: You can figure that something has gone out of your marriage when everything she says or cooks disagrees with you.

MARLENE SCHMIDT
... from Germany

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Marlene Schmidt, a five-foot-eight blonde from Stuttgart, Germany, Saturday night became Miss Universe of 1961 in international competition against girls from 47 nations.

Marlene, who said she got into the contest because she thought it would be fun, is a 24-year-old electronics engineer.

She moved with her mother and a younger sister from behind the Iron Curtain to West Germany only a year ago.

Prior to the judging, Marlene, who speaks Russian and German but no English, said through an interpreter: "I wouldn't mind being Miss Universe and taking a year off from work but I intend to return to my job."

She makes $53 a week for doing research in electronics and radio.

Marlene, the oldest of the 15 finalists at 24, has vital statistics of 36½-23-36.

CHUCKWAGON DEATH

'Give-a-Lift' Saves Stampede

By DENNIS ORCHARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Stampede saddled-up its cowboys, loaded its chuckwagons and stomped into history Saturday.

It took with it as well some light and some uneasy burdens to contemplate before it returns next year to celebrate its 50th birthday.

The world-famous show opened with a traditional flourish, almost broke down in the face of a transit strike, and then rallied, thanks to a phalanx of community spirit.

In every part of the city community associations and car owners made up for the loss of bus service Tuesday by a "give-a-lift" drive that pushed Stampede attendance back to normal in the show's last four days.

HARMONY PREVAILS
The strike could easily have driven a wedge between the city—adamant in its stand against wage increases for the transit union—and Stampede officials, but it brought them closer together.

They beat back the effects of the strike and helped bring total attendance for the six days to 514,425, far short of the 591,000 record.

Once again, a harsh reality was thrust upon those who believe that the calculated dangers of rodeo events should be maintained for spectator interest.

Last year there was a death in the chuckwagon racing, this year there was another. Bronco rider Willie Little Bear, 25-year-old Indian from Cardston, Alta., died as the result of skull fractures suffered Saturday when he was kicked by his mount.

The nightly chuckwagon heats this year were as close as they had ever been in their 40-year history.

TIED FOR FIRST
Two Calgary outfits owned by Orville Burkinshaw and Peter Bawden, separated by a hair's breadth all week, wound up tied for the Stampede championship.

In the rodeo events Marty Woods of Bowness, Alta., parried a single ride to lift him from fifth to first place and victory in the North American saddle bronc competition. He had 182 points, one better than runner-up Kenny McLean of Okanagan Falls, B.C.

In other major events: Guy Weeks, Abilene, Texas, and George Myren, Viking, Alta., tied for top spot in the bareback bronc riding. They flipped for the championship, Weeks winning, and split first and second money evenly.

Vernon Kerns of Hearne, Tex., won the calf-roping contest; Bob Shepherd of Lovett, Tex., the Brahma bull riding, and C. R. Jones of Benson, Ariz., the world steer decorating.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Both Cub packs of the Sixth Tsartlip (Deep Cove) Group held a three-day camp at Beaver Point on Salt Spring Island recently.

Some 34 Cubs and 14 fathers attended the camp under Akelas R. McLennan and R. McCutcheon and enjoyed swimming, hiking, nature trails and games.

Proficiency badges were issued to Cubs and Scouts of the Greater Victoria region last week as follows:

Second Cadet: St. John's Anglican Church Troop—Belgian and Mr. David Schenck; master-at-arms, David Schenck.

First Fort Victoria (Crested Church Cathedral) Pack—Swimmer, Wayne Sheppard.

First Fort Victoria (Christ Church Cathedral) Troop—Metalworker, Albert Smith; artist, Albert Smith.

Woman Sets Record —Then Dies

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A Tibetan woman named Sheirab who climbed a 24,918-foot peak to set a world record for women mountaineers has died on the way down, the New China News Agency reported Saturday.

The woman was described as one of China's outstanding mountaineers with the designation "master of mountaineering."

Sheirab and another woman, Phundob, conquered—24,918-foot Mount Kongur Tibbie Tagh in the Pamir range but Sheirab died in a snowstorm on the way down, the agency said.

Church Forbids Psychoanalysis

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican Congregation of the Holy Office, of which Pope John is prefect, today forbade priests and nuns and other members of religious orders to practice or submit to psychoanalysis.

A decree said priests and other religious members of both sexes could go to psychoanalysts only for grave cause, and with permission.

Fire Started By Car Crash

Power Lines Ignite Bush
As West Saanich Man Hurt

A West Saanich man was injured in the most spectacular of two weekend accidents.

Man Injured

When Hit By Nine Doors

Harold Poulton, 1403 Arm, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by city police at 11.25 a.m. today suffering from arm and leg bruises.

Police said he was helping to unload mahogany doors at 541 Herald when nine of them fell on him.

Central Saanich police said Horace Paul, West Saanich Indian Reserve, went off Mount Newton Cross Road near Wallace Drive, Sunday about 3 p.m. and sheared off a power pole.

Wires carrying 4,000 volts came down and started a small bush fire which was extinguished by attending police.

The man was taken to Resthaven Hospital by ambulance suffering from facial cuts and chest injuries.

Police said the late-model auto slammed into a bank after severing the pole and could be considered a total loss.

Less severe but involving four vehicles was an accident Saturday at 5.17 p.m. at Belleville and Government.

City police said a car driven by Robert G. Hough, 650 Niagara, collided with the rear of one driven by John Wheelock, 2077 Oak Bay.

This was driven forward into the rear of a car driven by Wilfred Conlan, 20 Government, which was driven forward in turn to hit an auto driven by Eldon Shaw, 77 Leighton.

Damage to the vehicles was, respectively, $150, $500, $150 and $150.

Hough appeared in city police court today and was fined $250 after pleading guilty to impaired driving.

There were no injuries.

DONNING SMOKE MASKS, Navy fireman prepares to enter the burning Pooley home at 1182 Old Esquimalt Road early Sunday. RCN firemen assisted Esquimalt and flames were out after four hours of work.

ESQUIMALT NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Skeena, Margaree, Saguenay, Assiniboine and Fraser left today, Saguenay and Fraser to return Thursday, the others to return Aug. 4.

Meters Start Grabbing Higher 'Take'

First "batch" of new parking meters for downtown Victoria today began "ringing up" dimes instead of nickels.

City crews singled out Herald as the first street for conversion of parking meters from five to 10 cents.

It will take about two weeks before the 10-cent meters are installed throughout the downtown area.

760 METERS
A total of 760 meters will be installed or converted from five to 10 cents.

Norman Worley, traffic engineer, said the new rates go into effect as soon as a meter head has been installed or altered.

Plaques are being installed on the new meters to designate the 10-cent rate. The posts are also painted silver to avoid confusion with other meters which will remain unchanged on certain streets in the commercial area.

"There should be no confusion if motorists read the directions on the plaque," said Mr. Worley.

On Broad Street the five-cent every half-hour meter will remain unchanged.

Some five-cent-an-hour meters will be retained on streets situated in the outlying district of the commercial area. The posts will be green.

High Marks Given In McGill Piano Exams

Other successful candidates were Tami Burton, high distinction; Grade 8; Martin Adams, high distinction; Grade 6; Jan Williams and Robin Wilmut, high distinctions; Grade 6; and Michael Quebec, distinction; Grade 5.

Successful candidates in theory examinations were Tami Burton, high distinction; Grade 8; Martin Adams and Arthur Joyée, distinctions; Grade 8; and Nancy Lamb, pass, Grade 7.

Examinations were conducted by Rose Goldblatt of the McGill University Faculty of Music.

Pooley Mansion Gutted by Fire

Historic Home
Sold Last Week

One of the best-known old houses in Greater Victoria was gutted by fire early Sunday.

The former Pooley mansion at 1182 Old Esquimalt Road was being renovated by new owners, Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Ruskin.

The blaze was reported at 12.33 a.m. Esquimalt and RCN firemen had flames under control in an hour and the fire out by 4.30 a.m.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Although the house is still structurally sound, floors, walls and ceilings are badly damaged. Loss is expected to be heavy.

Because of renovation work, no furniture was in the house. It was occupied until Friday by a caretaker.

Built in 1913, the house was bought later by Hon. Robert Henry (Harry) Pooley, former Esquimalt MLA and provincial attorney-general, who died in 1954. His widow, Mary Louise

Pooley, died last April 29 at the age of 81.

Chaffeur for the family since 1929, Richard Tanner, 640 Lampson, checked the house at 9.45 p.m.

"I turned on the hoses and checked the doors but didn't see anything wrong at the time," he said.

Mr. Tanner said the power was turned off in the house. He said a small pane of glass was missing from a rear door. Firemen denied breaking it.

NO COMMENT

"I am not making any comment whatsoever," said Chief Gilbert Stancombe when asked about the possibility of arson. He said no comment would be made until investigations were completed.

The new owners, it's understood, intend to restore the old house.

WEATHER FINE, GETTING FINER

A slight improvement in the weather is forecast by weatherman William MacKie, with more sun and slightly higher temperatures.

It will be mainly sunny for the next few days with temperatures ranging from 55 at night to a high of 75 with winds coming from the southwest at 15 miles an hour.

Skindivers From Mainland Big Winners

Helldivers Club of Vancouver captured top individual and team trophies in the fourth annual Victoria skindivers' competition Sunday at Brentwood Bay.

Stan Moore won the major individual award with a 20-pound cod—largest fish weighed in during the day.

The three-man Helldivers' team, including Moore, Bob Smith and Bill Hitchcock, placed first with a 39-pound, six-ounce aggregate to edge Pudget Sound Blackfish from Seattle. Another Seattle team, the Mudsharks, placed third.

Largest fish weighed in by a Victoria diver was Jack Turford's 4.14 cod while clubmate Allan Hook was awarded the club's "diver-of-the-year" trophy.

A total of 90 drivers from Washington, Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland participated. Fish caught were turned over to needy families in the Victoria area.

Victoria Student Going To Japan On Exchange Plan

Lorne Bolton, of Victoria, is one of five University of British Columbia students taking part in the second annual summer exchange program with a university in Tokyo.

A first year commerce student at UBC, he is accompanied by Kaori Shimizu, Edmonton; Elizabeth Daly, Trail; Carol Reynolds, Squamish; and Jerry Watney, Vancouver.

The group will live with Japanese families while attending university lectures and seminars and will then make a tour of Japan.

300 Coming For Trade Conference

Three hundred delegates are expected to attend the 46th general conference of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association in Victoria Oct. 15 to 17.

Officials were here from Seattle today mapping plans for the conference, to be held at the Empress Hotel.

Theme of the three-day meeting will be "Industrial Diversification" or secondary industry.

Representatives of boards of trade, chambers of commerce and business leaders in the states of Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Alaska will join B.C. and Yukon delegates here.

D. C. Knapp, executive vice-president, said a number of top speakers will be invited. Development of new industries and case histories to illustrate progress already accomplished will be featured.

W. C. Mearns, vice-president of B.C. Electric here, is the program director.

MONTE ROBERTS

I—of all unlikely people—have been asked to suggest a list of games to keep people happy and amused while they are spending a weekend at a summer camp.

I had always supposed people on a summer camp weekend were kept busy enough dodging mosquitoes, tripping over tree roots, applying unguents to poison ivy scars, and wishing they were back home reading a good book.

But I have been challenged to suggest games for weekend campers, so here goes:

An excellent game is HATCHET, HATCHET, WHO SEES THE HATCHET?

The players are seated in a circle and the host starts the game by saying, "There's a hatchet around here somewhere. Anybody seen the hatchet?"

First person to admit seeing the hatchet is the winner, and gets to chop all the firewood during the weekend.

CHORE-AIDES is another pleasant camping game. Again the host takes the lead, acting out chores, such as removing the wasp's nest from the back porch and applying the disinfectant to that place or back.

Those who guess what the host is acting out become, of course, Chore-aides.

Then there's BEDGO, played exactly the same way as BINGO, but the prize is more important. First person whose card spells out "BEDGO" in any direction gets to choose the bed with the fewest lumps.

FIRST ONE UP COOKS THE BREAKFAST. This game adds lots of fun to camp life on a Sunday morning, especially when combined with:

LAST ONE UP WASHES THE DISHES. This leads to gales of laughter as everyone tries to be neither first nor last, but in between.

Finally, I suggest BASEBALL. This camp version is essentially the same as the seven-card poker game with nines and threes wild.

The difference is, the first player to be dealt four nines or four threes scores a home-run, and is entitled to "run home."

Which is where I will have been all the time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Victoria Gyro Club's annual hole-in-one carnival will be held again in Royal Athletic Park this year. It will run from Aug. 2 to Aug. 3.

There will be the usual attractions of stalls, sideshows and games plus the popular Y's Men's Club trout pond and an auction.

The hole-in-one competition will be held off Aug. 2 by some of B.C.'s top golfers. Aspiring amateurs will have an opportunity of winning $100 if they get a hole-in-one.

Doreen Isabel Ramsden, 2854 Sooke Road, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment Saturday in Colwood RCMP court for her third conviction for driving while under suspension.

Her second conviction was July 12 at which time she was also fined $25 for careless driving.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me if all Canadian sports cars track run anti-clockwise? If so, do all European tracks run clockwise? G.R.

A. All North American sports car and racing car tracks run clockwise. This does not include stock, sprint and so-called Indianapolis car speedways which are anti-clockwise ovals. European tracks run anti-clockwise. This is done to enable the drivers in each area to be on the outside of as many turns as possible in a given circuit.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Four Victoria power boatmen were placed in the Seattle-to-Vancouver International Predicted Log Cruiser race Saturday.

Joe Park, Seattle skipper of the 50-foot diesel cruiser, won the 125-mile race with a percentage of error of only 34 per cent between his actual time and his predicted arrival time.

Scores of Victoria boatmen, with percentage of error in brackets were:

Dr. W. D. Marshall (7.65), F. W. Francis (9.86), K. J. Norgaard (4.62), H. D. Middleton (7.0).

The cruisers reached Vancouver over a three-hour period Saturday evening.

A film dealing with a safari in Nairobi, Africa, will be shown tonight at 8 at the Goldstream clubhouse of the Victoria Fish and Game Protection Association. The film was taken by Clifford Tillotson of California, who took 42 trophies on the safari.

Jano Draskovits, West Saanich Road, pleaded guilty through an interpreter to a charge of indecent assault when he appeared in city police court today and was remanded to July 20 for probation report and sentence.

Saanich police said he was arrested after he assaulted a Nanaimo housewife at Elk Lake Saturday evening.

Winners of the monthly master point awards tournament of Victoria unit, American Contract Bridge League, were: North-South, 1, Tony Marsh, Otto Leemans; 2, Elizabeth Warren, Guy Dickson; 3, Gordon Rodger, Simon Marinker.

East-West, 1, Eric Goddard, Jim Duprau; 2, Harry Parry, Frank Artlett; 3, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duprau.

Two Victoria men—A. R. D. Robertson, 3161 Service Street and Dr. Harry Jack, 3028 Caddboro Bay—have been named key participants in the To a Master's International convention in Seattle, July 27 to 29.

The announcement was made today by the world-wide group's headquarters at Santa Anna, California.

Mr. Robertson and Dr. Jack will take part in the Toastmasters' 30th annual meeting which is expected to draw 1,000 delegates from all over the world.

Newly-formed Greater Victoria branch of the National Young CCF Party will support Premier Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan for the national leadership of the New Party at next month's founding convention in Ottawa.

Decision was taken at a recent meeting of the group held in a member's home. It is reported by secretary Patricia Kelly.

FIREMEN BROKE THROUGH French doors in the Pooley house to get at flames but were halted by this gaping hole in the drawing room. Most of the floor fell into the basement.

ICY FIRST ENCOUNTER ABOARD CANBERRA

Ahoy! A Red-Slippered Skipper

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Out of a misty-rose dawn today came a great white queen of the seas, skippered by a rugged old sea dog in red carpet slippers.

The 45,270-ton Canberra—fifth largest merchant ship in the world—entered the Strait of Juan de Fuca soon after 4 a.m. and steamed on to British Columbia where she was glimpsed through a tattered curtain of mist by Victorians and tourists lining the Dallas Road waterfront.

Among them were eager-eyed visitors from Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

On a 44,000-mile maiden voyage from Southampton, the mammoth P and O Orient liner rounded Clover Point at 7.45 a.m. and sailed on to a large-scale civic welcome in Vancouver Harbor.

3,200 ON BOARD
She carried more than 3,200 passengers and crew.

Newsman and photographers from Victoria and Vancouver boarded the Canberra from a pilot cutter off the Dallas Road waterfront around 6.30 a.m.

On the bridge was Commodore Geoffrey Wild—commander of the entire P and O Orient fleet—his red slippers contrasting oddly with trim white uniform and highly-polished surroundings.

Commodore Wild had been on the bridge all night and was in no mood for early morning calls at the wheelhouse.

"I must ask the press to leave this deck," he said.

"Have you had a good trip, sir?" he was asked.

"I have asked the press to leave," answered the commodore in icy tones.

'HANDLES WELL'

But later the 56-year-old commodore—son of a Lancashire parson—relied and said of the Canberra:

"She is a good sailor and practically ignores bad weather. Considering her size, she handles well."

Commodore Wild said the liner has a rated cruising speed of 27.5 knots, but her 85,000-horsepower engines were throttled down to a leisurely 25 knots on the run from Honolulu to Victoria.

"The trip was uneventful," he said crisply.

En route to Vancouver, the liner called at Naples, Port Said, Colombo, Melbourne, Sydney, Auckland and Honolulu.

From Vancouver she will sail south to San Francisco, on to Honolulu and Australia, and back to Southampton Sept. 1.

ODD PROFILE

From the traditional viewpoint, the Canberra has an odd profile since her twin streamlined funnels are placed aft side by side with the object of keeping smoke and soot away from the upper decks.

But there is a more fundamental reason for the unique position of her funnels—the engines are placed aft, too.

"This has proved a distinct advantage," one of the ship's officers said. "It means that the amidships areas, always the most comfortable, are left free for passenger accommodation, without intruding machinery."

The largest passenger liner to be built in the United Kingdom since the Queen Elizabeth, the Canberra was launched from the Belfast yards of Harland and Wolff Ltd., on March 16, 1960.

In addition to the navigating bridge, the liner has 14 decks, one extra made possible, with no increase in weight, by a revolutionary use of aluminum for the entire upper structure.

Lifeboats are carried in-board and nearer the waterline than is usual. By stowing the boats within the breadth of the ship, wind resistance has been minimized and the lower position reduces top weight, improves deck space and lessens the distance the boats would have to be lowered in an emergency.

CARVE INITIALS

Two of the most novel rooms—both in the tourist class—are the Pop Inn, where teenagers may rock and roll and even carve their initials on the wall, and The Cricketer's Tavern, a shipboard imitation of an English pub.

The ship has a first-class swimming pool, terraced on three sides; two swimming pools on the tourist deck, a rumour room for teenagers, children's playrooms in both classes and a large cocktail lounge known as the Bopito Club.

There are three hospitals, a modern operating theatre, a dispensary, consulting rooms,

COMMODORE G. A. WILD ... all night on bridge a 350-seat movie theatre and a TV station and studio which can bring in programs from 150 miles away.

When out of range, closed-circuit TV is used to show films, live interviews and amateur shows.

The Canberra brought 1,212 passengers to the Pacific Coast of whom 650 disembarked in Vancouver. But another 1,275 will board the ship for its continued maiden voyage to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Honolulu and back to Southampton.

Keep Home Fires Burning With 5-Year Light Bulbs

By PENNY SAVER

One is often tempted to estimate the amount of time spent by the busy housewife in taking down ornate light fixtures to replace the burnt globe. It would be equally interesting to count the number of household emergencies created by that little necessity, the light bulb, for it always seems to "go" just as party guests arrive.

The appearance in town of a new light bulb that will do the work, time-wise, of 13 ordinary bulbs will mark a big step forward into "Century 21."

These bulbs are fully guaranteed to last for five years. They come complete with a sticker on which to write date of installation, and should they flicker out before then, store will replace. Moreover, bulbs are designed with a special muted white finish to avoid glare and give an over-all glow.

Bulbs from 15 watts through to 75 cost 79 cents each (an estimated saving over five years of $2.46); 100-watt bulbs are 89 cents; 150-watt, 99 cents; and three-way bulbs (50, 100 and 150-watt) are $1.95. Bulbs are available at stores in four Greater Victoria districts.

One hesitates in the middle of summer to mention anything even resembling rainwear, but, as this is an odd kind of summer, news of a wonderful novelty raincoat may prove timely. This is a multi-ruffled cotton squash hat that comes in many fresh prints, as well as plain white or black.

And these fluffy hats are entirely sewn over with clear plastic, best answer yet to the unpredictable July downpour. Hats are priced at 98 cents each.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped, give her a phone call at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

How long has it been since you changed your hairdo? Are you sure that you are wearing your crowning glory in the most becoming way? It is truly amazing what a great difference a hairdo can make. It's like magic.

Often when we see a woman for the first time for a while we suddenly think, "What's happened? She is so much better looking." Then we realize that she is wearing her hair in a different way. That is what a change the arrangement can make.

I think it is money well spent to go to a clever hair-stylist for help in changing your hairdo. If you cannot afford to continue going to an expert, you will find that the hair stylist will be willing to co-operate in planning a style which you can handle at home yourself or which an operator can carry out for you.

However, if you have no such expert nearby, I can give you a few simple rules which will allow you to experiment yourself.

If you have a long thin face you should try to make it appear shorter and wider. Do this by wearing your hair flat on top of your head and fuller at the sides.

If you have a round face, do just the opposite. Wear the hair high on top and close at the temples.

The square face is somewhat difficult to manage, yet it can be a beautiful face. If this is your type, avoid all square effects.

A slanting part is flattering. Wear your hair fairly high on top of your head. Your hair should be close to your face at the sides and the ears should be covered. The hair should extend a little below the ears.

All hairdos strive for the oval effect, the oval face is considered to be the most nearly perfect one. If you have an oval face, you can wear just about any hairdo flatteringly.

If you would like to have my leaflet on hair care, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 52. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY

You Sure Did, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine offered to paint and paper my house. He looked over my place and agreed to do the whole thing for $350. The colors he put on were not the ones I picked, and he got the doors on backwards. He kept losing screws and bolts, and I was all the time running to the hardware store to replace the stuff he lost. He got varnish on my good bedspread, and tried to take it out with turpentine, thereby ruining it completely. I paid him in full for the job before he started, and it isn't done yet. Should I let him finish the job or stop him now or what? I hate to hurt his feelings.

Is there some way we can put a stop to uninvited company without losing their friendship?

LAKE LOVERS

DEAR LAKE LOVERS: What is so precious about the "friendship" of those who would impose upon you in the manner you describe? Gather as much nerve as it takes to tell them please to telephone before coming. If you lose their friendship, you haven't lost much.

MADE A MISTAKE

DEAR MADE: Your friend is obviously an amateur. If you want a good job, stop him now and hire a professional to do it over. Anyone who puts doors on backwards must not know whether he is coming or going. This was a very expensive lesson.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS.

L.: The "deal" you describe is risky and foolish. When adopting a baby, deal only with a reliable adoption agency. It is important to know who the baby's father is.

Days of Ancient Battle Relived Annually By Irish

By Elizabeth Forbes

Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Women's Editor, is presently on a five-week holiday in the British Isles and Ireland. In the following story, written a few days ago, she tells of some of her experiences and impressions.

The Battle of the Boyne, fought 271 years ago on the meadows near Drogheda in Northern Ireland, was relived for me, step by step, last Sunday night.

We'd been out to look at decorations put up in the little town of Drogheda for the "Glorious 12th" (day of celebrating "the victories"). Union Jacks fluttered from every rooftop; strings of bunting festooned the streets and, near the town square, there was a colorful arch, all orange and red, white and blue, with a picture of King William of Orange on his white horse.

Medallions showing the gates of Derry (Londonderry) where the people were besieged for months; also the ships that carried the soldiers from England, appeared on the arch with such slogans as "No Surrender," "Fear God And Honor The Queen" and "Love the Brethren" in bold black letters.

Every town and city in Northern Ireland was decorated in the same way.

There was a parade in Drogheda last Sunday night, too, with men in orange sashes and royal blue tambs walking

Rebels Caught In Trap

He marched in from the sea; the planters came down from inland and the rebel Irish were caught between them at Drogheda—near the River Boyne.

"We of Northern Ireland are nearly all descendants of those planters and of the Irish who stayed with them," a deep voice explained.

"This flying of flags, raising of arches and the walk to the field is our way of repudiating our allegiance to the British Crown."

While all this is going on in the North, Eire presumably goes on its way—ignoring the sound of fife and drums and flutter of British flags.

But don't for a minute think they don't know it's happening.

Earlier on Sunday—coming back from a drive to the Mountains of Mourne—we were behind Irish pipes and a fife and drum band to "the field" (public square) for a special church service.

Then we went back to Mrs. Joe Shannon's parlor (and they do call it parlor) to sit around a peat fire in a tiny fireplace, sip Irish coffee and have a good "crack" (talk).

Someone started a recording of "The Sash Me Father Wore" and "The Protestant Boy." Soft Irish voices sang out the words for me.

As the music died away a blue-eyed Irish lass turned to me and said:

"Tis too bad you'll not be here on the 12th. We'll have the real walk then. 'Himself' will be there (meaning King William) on his white horse and the people will come from miles around to see him."

She turned her coffee cup slowly in her fingers.

"The trouble really started when the planters were sent in from Scotland and England, long before the Boyne," she said slowly.

These planters came to Northern Ireland to colonize, the group around the fireplace told me. They took the land and made good farms but in the doing many of the Irish had to work for them.

Resentment grew until finally there was "a rising." The planters and their families, together with the loyal Irish, were besieged. They backed up to Londonderry, where they stood firm until King William came with his troops from England.

stopped near Rosetrevor on Strangford Lough by two members of the Northern police. Both carried shoulder revolvers and one had a hand machine gun slung over his back (to fire on cars that wouldn't stop).

They checked us thoroughly and took our names. It was necessary they said at this time "as it is so easy for the wild ones to slip in from Eire by sea at Rosetrevor to do some damage."

All this does not mean that the peoples of the North and South do not cross the border. Indeed, they do so in the thousands.

Right now, there is a general holiday of two weeks in the North. Shipyards and heavy industries are closed down and the Ulster working-man and his family is travelling south on bicycles, by car and on foot for a holiday in Eire.

It's quite common, too, for Ulster folk along the border to work in Eire and for Southern Irish people to work in towns north of the border.

"We're all Irish, you know," I was told. "We'll fight to the last man up here in the North to remain loyal to the Queen, but let anything threaten Ireland as a whole—and we'll be fighting together."

The peat fire burned low, the Irish coffee was finished, goodbyes were said.

And my new-found friends went up the narrow road, softly singing "The Sash Me Father Wore."

The engagement is announced of Patricia Marie Ennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ennis of McCreary, Man., to Mr. William Brian Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs.

C. C. Howard, 1166 Summit Avenue. The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 29, at 8 p.m. in Centennial United Church. Dr. S. Parsons will officiate.

Stylist Hands Bouquet To Canadian Women

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian women don't have to take a back seat to anyone when it comes to being well dressed, says Morris Watkins, Toronto clothing manufacturer.

He maintains that Canadian women have good taste, and do not wear gaudy or exaggerated clothes.

"Their taste is as subtle as their Canadian personality."

He said his sportswear company has, perhaps, the largest volume of business for a single company of its kind in Canada.

"In this business you can start out with a little money and by a lot of hard work make a success of it," he said.

He was just 16 when he started out in the trade, and by the late 1930s he was manufacturing clothes under his own name. At 53, he now Association, Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Orange Hall.

SMUGGLERS TERRORIZE PEOPLE BROUGHT OVER

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's Chinese population has not been co-operating in the current investigation of the immigrant smuggling racket, Justice Minister Fulton said in an interview Sunday.

He told reporters leaders of the Chinese immigrant smuggling racket are "terrorizing the people they brought over."

Mr. Fulton said the government would crack down because of failure of attempts to persuade illegal immigrants to come forward and give information.

Union Snubs Labor Minister

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — The 12,000-strong Oshawa automobile workers union snubbed Labor Minister Starr by not sending him his customary invitation to the annual union picnic Saturday.

Mr. Starr, a former mayor of Oshawa who attended the picnic for 15 years, said he was "hurt" by the snub, delivered because he refused last May to attend a meeting to discuss unemployment here.

Malcolm Smith, president of Local 222 of the United Auto Workers (CLC), said "if Mr. Starr hasn't got the time to attend a meeting of the unemployed here, he is not welcome at our picnic."

About 25,000 persons attended the outing at Lakeview Park.

Father, Son Die In Rushing Tide On Mudflats

(Compiled from CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — Tearfully sobbing "come back darling" a woman Sunday night, vainly tried to revive her drowned husband with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Mrs. Carl Otterman collapsed when she realized her 35-year-old husband was dead.

Mr. Otterman collapsed and drowned, trying to save his five-year-old son Glen, trapped by a fast-running Boundary Bay mudflats tide. The water was only waist deep.

The boy disappeared in a tide channel between sand bars and is presumed drowned.

Minutes earlier, the father carried another son, aged seven to safety as the incoming tide swirled around them.

A police recovered Mr. Otterman's body and carried it nearly a mile to shore.

After Mrs. Otterman's attempts at respiration failed two doctors also were unsuccessful and abandoned a resuscitation attempt after an hour.

Mr. Otterman and three of his children were playing on the mudflats with another man and a child when the tide started to come in.

A police officer said: "They completely fatigued themselves. When the tide started pushing in like a river they found themselves forced into a spot where a deep tide channel cut them off from the shore."

CHEST OPENED

NEW WESTMINSTER — Doctors opened the chest of Albert Foster Saturday and massaged his heart to revive him after he collapsed with a piece of meat stuck in his throat.

Foster was eating in a cafe when he suddenly keeled over. An inhalator was summoned and he was taken to hospital where doctors cut into his chest and massaged his heart.

Target Lowered By United Appeal

The 21 agencies of Community Chest will have to tighten their belts for this year's United Appeal drive, Chest president Eric Mallett said over the weekend.

Target for the 1961 Red Feather drive will be $310,000 — $40,000 less than the 1960 target.

Mr. Mallett said the same economies that business and industry are using.

Agency cutbacks will be aimed at increased efficiency and getting the most from the welfare dollar.

CLOSE LOOK

"Through the Community Welfare Council, we are taking a close look at the operations of member agencies," said the president.

The council acts in the same manner as a management consulting firm, making recommendations and suggestions.

"Last year taught us there is no point in setting a goal that cannot be met," said Mr. Mallett. "I am confident that this year's goal of $310,000 is realistic and in keeping with the present economic conditions in the city."

Cowichan Farmers Ease Up On Fast Time Opposition

DUNCAN — Directors of Cowichan Agricultural Society have declined to support an Okanagan resolution asking for daylight saving time extension to the end of October.

Although officially recorded as being against extension, it took the casting vote of president Chris Williams to reach a decision.

The directors were tied 53 until the chairman voted. Dairy men for the most part were against the extension, with others being in favor of it.

It was a marked change from a few years ago when rural dwellers in this area were almost unanimously against any form of clock changing.

DUNCAN — Report of the sheep committee of Cowichan Farmers' Institute has indicated Oregon lamb is selling on Vancouver Island for 19 cents a pound, making it impossible to market lamb grown on Salt Spring Island at a price which would leave any profit for the grower.

A Cowichan dealer was quoted as refusing to accept consignments locally or from Salt Spring as the Victoria market was glutted with Oregon lamb.

DUNCAN — Hector Stone has been re-elected president of the Cowichan branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

At the annual meeting it was learned that donations of $5,594 to the branch's 1961 drive were higher, by $115, than last year.

DUNCAN — Jim and Colin Jacobsen, Vancouver, have bought the Maple Bay Inn.

Along with their wives, the brothers plan to make it a joint venture—the first of its kind for them. They have been in business in Vancouver as television repair men.

Ralph Lansdell said he sold out because of his poor health. He plans to take a long holiday. He was proprietor of the inn for seven months.

VANCOUVER — Three men were rescued early Sunday when a fishing scow, containing a 1,500-gallon fuel tank, exploded and burned near the northern tip of Vancouver Island.

RCAF rescue headquarters here made the rescue of the unidentified men.

SALT SPRING ISLAND — School timetable providing more teaching time without lengthening the school day was accepted by Gulf Islands school board at a recent meeting.

The new schedule, submitted by J. M. Evans, principal, allows 320 minutes' instruction time and 50 minutes' lunch period in 9 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. school day.

The board voted to rescind motion approved recently to amalgamate north and south school areas. The matter will be left to the decision of voters of the southern area at their annual meeting.

SHEEP KILLINGS ON INCREASE

Higher Dog Licence Fees Win Support

DUNCAN — The British Columbia Federation of Agriculture will support farm organizations which are pressing the director, said here Friday.

10 New Flagpoles Ordered — DUNCAN — Ten flagpoles by Trustee Harold Whitfield have been ordered for schools that out of a total of 40 in the Cowichan school district, schools, 10 were without flagpoles. The order follows a report poles.

The number of sheep killing cases are on the increase, he also reported the British Columbia government will spend up to $25,000 for agricultural advertising this year providing agricultural commodity groups matched this dollar for dollar.

Mr. Stevenson also announced the contract for building a new sheep and swine barn on the Cowichan Exhibition Grounds has been awarded to Brownsey & Sons, of Duncan. Brownsey's bid was $5,291—the lowest of three bids.

The barn will be ready for the fair on September 8 and 9.

"It's Not Me," Says Black On Driving Chore Proposal

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black says he must be involved in a case of mistaken identity; he's not driving with a Duncan school teacher to the Maritimes.

A Times story datelined Duncan last Thursday quoted teacher John Warren as saying he had answered an advertisement for someone to share the wheel with a couple going east.

He said it turned out to be Mr. Black and his wife.

"I can't understand it; there's absolutely no foundation to it at all," said Mr. Black.

He said he wasn't planning any trip to the Maritimes this summer.

Unemployment Fund Study Launched by Diefenbaker

Steady Drain, Winter Work To Be Probed

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointment of a four-man special committee under the chairmanship of Ernest C. Gill of Toronto, president of Canada Life Insurance Company, to review the operations of the Unemployment Insurance Act was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The committee, with powers of a royal commission to call witnesses, also is being empowered to study and report on measures needed to deal with seasonal winter unemployment and to correct any abuses or deficiencies it may find in the insurance plan.

Other members of the committee are Etienne Crevier, president of La Prevoyance d'Assurance Vie of Montreal; Dr. Joseph Richard Petrie of Montreal, a consulting economist; and Dr. John Deutsch, vice-principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., who served as adviser to the special Senate committee on manpower and employment.

The new committee is the 11th such body appointed to carry out a special investigation of Canadian affairs since the Progressive Conservative government took power in 1957.

Mr. Diefenbaker, announcing appointment of the special committee following a morning cabinet meeting, declined to indicate when he hopes the committee will submit a report. He added:

"I want it at the earliest date we can get it."

Hearings Expected in Ottawa Only

He said the committee would hold public hearings, but he hoped that it would not have to travel outside of Ottawa.

It would be empowered "to inquire into and report on the suitability of scope, basic principles, and provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act."

Along with its study of seasonal unemployment benefits, the committee is being asked to look into the relationship between measures of support for the unemployed and other social security benefits.

At the start of the present parliamentary session last Nov. 17, the government announced it would bring in legislation to safeguard the basic purpose of the Unemployment Insurance Act, correct "abuses" and strengthen the insurance fund. This legislation was not introduced before Parliament recessed last Thursday for an eight-week summer break.

The fund had fallen to $110,051,922 last May 31 from its peak of $926,726,830 at Dec. 31, 1956.

The Commons public accounts committee, in a report July 1, said it "views with alarm the sharp reduction in the balance of the credit of the fund."

The committee recommended "that the entire matter undergo immediate and careful study and that action be taken to re-establish and maintain the fund on a basis consistent with insurance principles."

The committee said change in the Insurance Act and regulations have broadened coverage given by the fund and decreased the emphasis on insurance principles recognized when the fund was established.

The government has had several warnings about the impact on the fund from growing levels of unemployment, which have been higher at the end of each business cycle than they were after the previous cycle.

Last September the advisory committee to the Unemployment Insurance Commission recommended that the federal treasury put up $131,000,000 to replenish the fund to cover extra benefits paid to fishermen and to seasonal unemployed during the winter.

RAGING WIND, SLASHING HAIL END DROUGHT

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Million-dollar, drought-breaking rain showers swept across southern Alberta during the weekend and brought with them hundreds of thousands of dollars in hail and wind damage.

Hail the size of golf balls and tornado-like twisters caused extensive damage to cropland and demolished farm buildings in many districts of the south.

'Spelunkers' Trapped In Cave

ORLEANS, Ind. (UPI) — A flooded crawl hole and "fantastic suction" of the underground Lost River today blocked skindivers searching for two explorers trapped in an unmapped limestone cave.

Three skindivers wormed and crawled their way 800 feet into the flooded cave where veteran "spelunkers" Ralph Moreland and Thomas Arnold, both 23-year-old graduate students from Indiana University, disappeared Sunday.

But the skindivers couldn't get through the entrance of a "crawl hole" — a passage so narrow a man can barely squeeze through it. The crawl hole entrance was under seven to eight feet of water and skindiver James Langhammer said the suction of the water racing into it was "fantastic."

Beyond the crawl hole, local farmers said, is a cavern where a man might stand. It was conceivable that the young spelunkers had found safety in an air pocket somewhere beyond. The rescue operation hinged on that hope.

U.K. Stocks Slashed By Austerity Threat

(See page 5.)
LONDON (Reuters) — Millions of pounds today were slashed from prices on the London stock exchange in anticipation of austerity measures to deal with Britain's economic crisis.

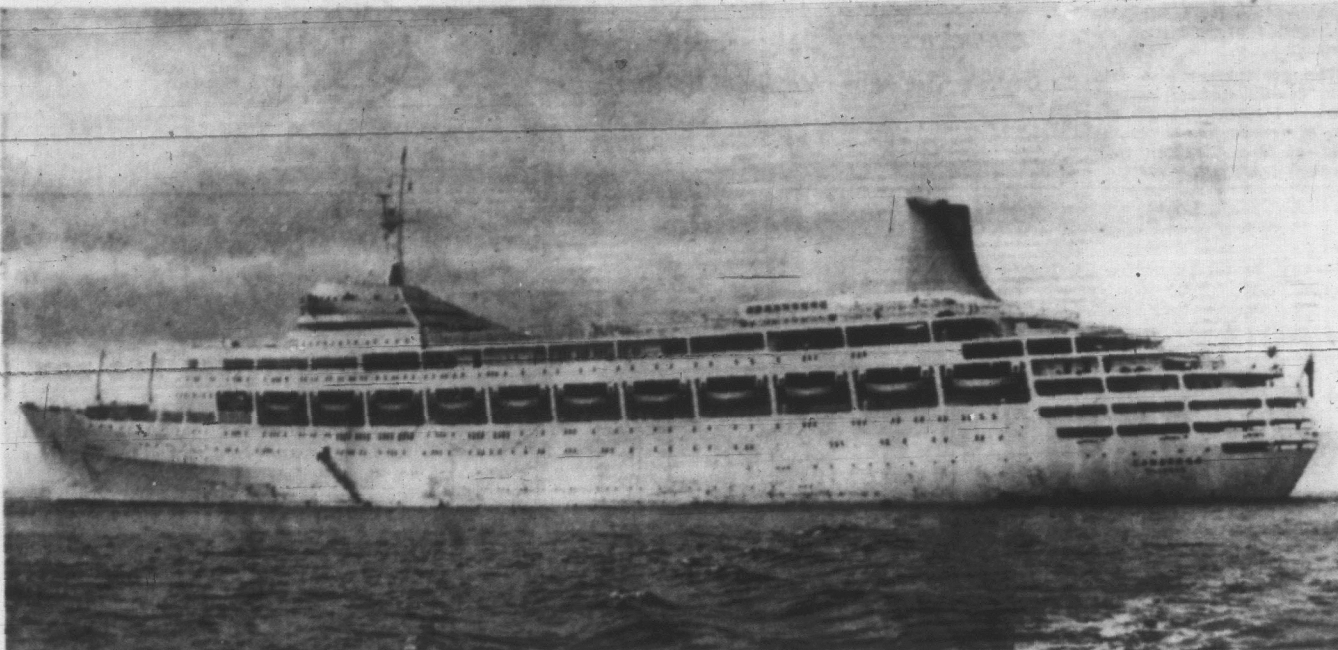

Top industrial shares fell by up to two shillings (28 cents) in the first two hours trading and real estate investment shares were hard-hit by fears of curbs on building.

The pound, after opening firmer against the United States dollar, slipped back on the foreign exchange market and around noon was being quoted at $2.78 15-32.

The Canadian dollar fluctuated erratically, first easing 5-16 to $2.88 and then rallying to $2.88 15-32 against the pound.

Newspapers meanwhile, took treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd's switch from a car to a motorcycle Saturday as symbolic of the belt-tightening facing Britons.

There were reports that the government might raise the bank rate from five to six per cent. The bank rate governs the amount people must pay to borrow money.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The three major Western powers today were reported to have maintained their absolute right to remain in Berlin in notes handed over to Russia.

EAST GERMANY SAID READY FOR REVOLT

LONDON (AP) — The Sunday Times says there are signs that a new, anti-Communist uprising is brewing in East Germany as the Berlin crisis gathers pace.

A dispatch from a Times correspondent in Bonn says East German refugees arriving in West Berlin have given indications that underground workers are plotting a popular uprising on the lines of the revolt of June, 1953.

"It is said to be planned to coincide with the first drastic move by the Communist authorities to seal off West Berlin as an escape route to the West," the dispatch says.

BERLIN (AP) — A record flow of refugees from Communist East Germany brought some 1,000 into West Berlin during the weekend.

NANAIMO (CP) — Bus driver Geoffrey Hirst got fed up with the way Canadians drive, so he quit his job — in the middle of a run from Nanaimo to Campbell River.

He wheeled his intercity bus to the side of the Island Highway north of Qualicum, about 30 miles north of Nanaimo, and stopped.

After picking up his jacket and cash box, he turned to the passengers and politely announced: "That's it, I quit."

Then he walked off, leaving 41 passengers bound for Campbell River to fend for themselves. "A relief driver arrived

LEICESTER, Eng. (CP) — A British member of Parliament has criticized Canada's objections to possible British membership of the European Economic Community.

Woodrow Wyatt, labor MP for the Bosworth division of Leicestershire, said in a political speech that Canada has no right of veto.

"We cannot cripple ourselves economically because a few Canadians who never do anything for us might be slightly inconvenienced for the moment," he said.

Wyatt said Canada had been offered a chance to join an Anglo-Canadian free trade area in 1957.

"She chose instead to look toward America rather than to us."

CHUCKWAGON DEATH

'Give-a-Lift' Saves Stampede

By DENNIS ORCHARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Stampede saddled up its cowboys, loaded its chuckwagons and stomped into history Saturday.

It took with it as well some light and some uneasy burdens to contemplate before it returns next year to celebrate its 50th birthday.

The world-famous show opened with a traditional flourish, almost broke down in the face of a transit strike, and then rallied thanks to a phalanx of community spirit.

In every part of the city community associations and car owners made up for the loss of bus service Tuesday by a "give-a-lift" drive that pushed Stampede attendance back to normal in the show's last four days.

HARMONY PREVAILS

The strike could easily have driven a wedge between the city—adamant in its stand against wage increases for the transit union—and Stampede officials, but it brought them closer together.

They beat back the effects of the strike and helped bring total attendance for the six days to 514,425, far short of the 591,000 record.

Once again, a harsh reality was thrust upon those who believe that the calculated dangers of rodeo events should be maintained for spectator interest.

Last year there was a death in the chuckwagon racing, this year there was another. Bronco rider Willie Little Bear, 25-year-old Indian from Cardston, Alta., died as the result of skull fractures suffered Saturday when he was kicked by his mount.

The nightly chuckwagon heats this year were as close as they had ever been in their 40-year history.

TIED FOR FIRST

Two Calgary outfits owned by Orville Burkinshaw and Peter Bawden, separated by a hair's breadth all week, wound up tied for the Stampede championship.

In the rodeo events—Marty Woods of Bowness, Alta., parried a single ride to lift him from fifth to first place and victory in the North American saddle bronc competition. He had 182 points, one better than runner-up Kenny McLean of Okanagan Falls, B.C.

In other major events:

Guy Weeks, Abilene, Texas, and George Myren, Viking, Alta., tied for top spot in the bareback bronc riding. They flipped for the championship, Weeks winning, and split first and second money evenly.

Vernon Kerns of Hearne, Tex., won the calf-roping contest; Bob Shepherd of Lovett, Tex., the Brahma bull riding, and C. R. Jones of Benson, Ariz., the world steer decorating.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Both Cub packs of the Sixth Tuartip (Deep Cove) Group held a three-day camp at Beaver Point on Salt Spring Island recently.

Some 34 Cubs and 14 fathers attended the camp under Akelas R. McLennan and R. McCutcheon and enjoyed swimming, hiking, nature trails and games.

Proficiency badges were issued to Cubs and Scouts of the Greater Victoria region last week as follows:

Second Cadet: St. John's Anglican Church Troop; Bellingham and the Bay; Schenck, master-at-arms; David Schenck, first; Port Victoria (Christ Church Cathedral); Pack: Swimmer, Wayne Shep-Bird.

First Port Victoria (Christ Church Cathedral); Troop: Metalworker, Albert Smith; artist, Albert Smith.

Fire Started By Car Crash

Power Lines Ignite Bush
As West Saanich Man Hurt

A West Saanich man was injured in the most spectacular of two weekend accidents.

Man Injured When Hit By Nine Doors

Harold Poulton, 1403 Arm, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by city police at 11:25 a.m. today suffering from arm and leg bruises.

Police said he was helping to unload mahogany doors at 541 Herald when nine of them fell on him.

Central Saanich police said Horace Paul, West Saanich Indian Reserve, went off Mount Newton-Cross Road near Wallace Drive, Sunday about 3 p.m. and sheared off a power pole.

Wires carrying 4,000 volts came down and started a small bush fire which was extinguished by attending police.

The man was taken to Resthaven Hospital by ambulance suffering from facial cuts and chest injuries.

Police said the late-model auto slammed into a bank after severing the pole and could be considered a total loss.

Less severe but involving four vehicles was an accident Saturday at 5:17 p.m. at Belleville and Government.

City police said a car driven by Robert G. Hough, 659 Niagara, collided with the rear of one driven by John Wheelock, 2077 Oak Bay.

This was driven forward into the rear of a car driven by Wilfred Conlan, 20 Government, which was driven forward in turn to hit an auto driven by Eldon Shaw, 77 Leighton.

Damage to the vehicles was, respectively, $150, $500, $150 and $150.

Hough appeared in city police court today and was fined $50 after pleading guilty to impaired driving.

There were no injuries.

Meters Start Grabbing Higher 'Take'

First "batch" of new parking meters for downtown Victoria today began "ringing up" dimes instead of nickels.

City crews singled out Herald as the first street for conversion of parking meters from five to 10 cents.

It will take about two weeks before the 10-cent meters are installed throughout the commercial core of the downtown area.

760 METERS
A total of 760 meters will be installed or converted from five to 10 cents.

Norman Worley, traffic engineer, said the new rates go into effect as soon as a meter head has been installed or altered.

Plaques are being installed on the new meters to designate the 10-cent rate. The posts are also painted silver to avoid confusion with other meters which will remain unchanged on certain streets in the commercial area.

"There should be no confusion if motorists read the directions on the plaque," said Mr. Worley.

On Broad Street the five-cent every half-hour meter will remain unchanged.

Some five-cent-an-hour meters will be retained on streets situated in the outlying district of the commercial area. The posts will be green.

Other successful candidates were Tami Burton, high distinction; Grade 8; Martin Adams, high distinction; Grade 6; Jan Williams and Robin Wilmut, high distinctions; Grade 6, and Michael Quebec, distinction, Grade 5.

Successful candidates in theory examinations were Tami Burton, high distinction; Grade 8; Martin Adams and Arthur Joyce, distinctions; Grade 8; and Nancy Lamb, pass, Grade 7.

Examinations were conducted by Rose Goldblatt of the McGill University Faculty of Music.

FIREMEN BROKE THROUGH French doors in the Pooley house to get at flames but were halted by this gaping hole in the drawing room. Most of the floor fell into the basement.

Pooley Mansion Gutted by Fire

Historic Home
Sold Last Week

One of the best-known old houses in Greater Victoria was gutted by fire early Sunday.

The former Pooley mansion at 1182 Old Esquimalt Road was being renovated by new owners, Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Ruskin.

The blaze was reported at 12:33 a.m. Esquimalt and RCN firemen had flames under control in an hour and the fire out by 4:30 a.m.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Although the house is still structurally sound, floors, walls and ceilings are badly damaged. Loss is expected to be heavy.

Because of renovation work no furniture was in the house. It was occupied until Friday by a caretaker.

Built in 1913, the house was bought later by Hon. Robert Henry (Harry) Pooley, former Esquimalt MLA and provincial attorney-general, who died in 1954. His widow, Mary Louise

Pooley, died last April 29 at the age of 81.

Chaufeur for the family since 1929, Richard Tanner, 640 Lampson, checked the house at 9:45 p.m.

"I turned on the hoses and checked the doors but didn't see anything wrong at the time," he said.

Mr. Tanner said the power was turned off in the house. He said a small pane of glass was missing from a rear door. Firemen denied breaking it.

NO COMMENT

"I am not making any comment whatsoever," said Chief Gilbert Stancome when asked about the possibility of arson.

He said no comment would be made until investigations were completed.

The new owners, it's understood, intend to restore the old house.

WEATHER FINE, GETTING FINER

A slight improvement in the weather is forecast by weatherman William MacKie, with more sun and slightly higher temperatures.

It will be mainly sunny for the next few days with temperatures ranging from 55 at night to a high of 75 with winds coming from the southwest at 15 miles an hour.

Skindivers From Mainland Big Winners

Helldivers Club of Vancouver captured top individual and team trophies in the fourth annual Victoria skindivers' competition Sunday at Brentwood Bay.

Stan Moore won the major individual award with a 20-pound cod—largest fish weighed in during the day.

The three-man Helldivers' team, including Moore, Bob Smith and Bill Hitchcock, placed first with a 39-pound, six-ounce aggregate to edge Pudget Sound Blackfish from Seattle. Another Seattle team, the Mudsharks, placed third.

Largest fish weighed in by a Victoria diver was Jack Turford's 4.14 cod while clubmate Allan Hook was awarded the club's "diver-of-the-year" trophy.

A total of 90 divers from Washington, Vancouver Island and the B.C. mainland participated. Fish caught were turned over to needy families in the Victoria area.

Victoria Student Going To Japan On Exchange Plan

Lorne Bolton, of Victoria, is one of five University of British Columbia students taking part in the second annual summer exchange program with a university in Tokyo.

A first year commerce student at UBC, he is accompanied by Kaori Shimizu, Edmonton; Elizabeth Daly, Trail; Carol Reynolds, Squamish, and Jerry Watney, Vancouver.

The group will live with Japanese families while attending university lectures and seminars and will then make a tour of Japan.

MONTE ROBERTS

I—of all unlikely people—have been asked to suggest a list of games to keep people happy and amused while they are spending a weekend at a summer camp.

I had always supposed people on a summer camp weekend were kept busy enough dodging mosquitoes, tripping over tree roots, applying unguents to poison ivy scars, and wishing they were back home reading a good book.

But I have been challenged to suggest games for weekend campers, so here goes:

An excellent game is HATCHET, HATCHET, WHO SEES THE HATCHET?

The players are seated in a circle and the host starts the game by saying, "There's a hatchet around here somewhere. Anybody seen the hatchet?"

First person to admit seeing the hatchet is the winner, and gets to chop all the firewood during the weekend.

CHORE-AIDES is another pleasant camping game. Again the host takes the lead, acting out chores, such as removing the wasp's nest from the back porch and applying the disinfectant to that place out back.

Those who guess what the host is acting out become, of course, Chore-aides.

Then there's BEDGO, played exactly the same way as BINGO, but the prize is more important. First person whose card spells out "BEDGO" in any direction gets to choose the bed with the fewest lumps.

FIRST ONE UP COOKS THE BREAKFAST. This game adds lots of fun to camp life on a Sunday morning, especially when combined with:

LAST ONE UP WASHES THE DISHES. This leads to gales of laughter as everyone tries to be neither first nor last, but in between.

Finally, I suggest BASEBALL. This camp version is essentially the same as the seven-card poker game with nines and threes wild.

The difference is, the first player to be dealt four nines or four threes scores a home-run, and is entitled to run home.

Which is where I will have been all the time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Victoria Gyro Club's annual hole-in-one carnival will be held again in Royal Athletic Park this year. It will run from Aug. 2 to Aug. 5.

There will be the usual attractions of stalls, sideshows and games, plus the popular Y's Men's Club trout pond and an auction.

The hole-in-one competition will be held Aug. 2 by some of B.C.'s top golfers. Aspiring amateurs will have an opportunity of winning $100 if they get a hole-in-one.

Doreen Isabel Ramsden, 2854 Sooke Road, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment Saturday in Colwood RCMP court for her third conviction for driving while under suspension.

Her second conviction was July 12 at which time she was also fined $25 for careless driving.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me if all Canadian sports car tracks run anti-clockwise? If so, do all European tracks run clockwise? G.R.

A. All North American sports car and racing car tracks run clockwise. This does not include stock, sprint and so-called Indianapolis car speedways which are anti-clockwise ovals. European tracks run anti-clockwise. This is done to enable the drivers in each area to be on the outside of as many turns as possible in a given circuit.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along with the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.

Four Victoria power boatsmen were placed in the Seattle-Vancouver International Predicted Log Cruiser race Saturday.

Joe Park, Seattle skipper of the 50-foot diesel cruiser, won the 125-mile race with a percentage of error of only .34 per cent between his actual time and his predicted arrival time.

Scores of Victoria boatsmen, with percentage of error in brackets were:

Dr. W. D. Marshall (7.65), F. W. Francis (9.86), K. J. Norgaard (4.62), H. D. Middleton (7.0).

The cruisers reached Vancouver over a three-hour period Saturday evening.

A film dealing with a safari in Nairobi, Africa, will be shown tonight at 8 at the Goldstream clubhouse of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association. The film was taken by Clifford Tillotson of California, who took 42 trophies in the safari.

Jano Draskovits, West Saanich Road, pleaded guilty through an interpreter to a charge of indecent assault when he appeared in city police court today and was remanded to July 20 for probation report and sentence.

Saanich police said he was arrested after he assaulted a Nanaimo housewife at Elk Lake Saturday evening.

Winners of the monthly master point awards tournament of Victoria unit, American Contract Bridge League, were: North-South, 1. Tony Marsh, Otto Leemans; 2. Elizabeth Warren, Guy Dickson; 3. Gordon Roder, Simon Marinier.

East-West, 1. Eric Goddard, Jim Duprau; 2. Harry Parry, Frank Artlett; 3. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duprau.

Two Victoria men—A. R. D. Robertson, 3151 Service Street and Dr. Harry Jackh, 3028 Cadboro Bay—have been named key participants in the Toastmasters' International convention in Seattle, July 27 to 29.

The announcement was made today by the world-wide group's headquarters at Santa Anna, California.

Mr. Robertson and Dr. Jackh will take part in the Toastmasters' 30th annual meeting which is expected to draw 1,000 delegates from all over the world.

Newly-formed Greater Victoria branch of the National Young CCF Party will support Premier Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan for the national leadership of the New Party at next month's founding convention in Ottawa.

West Answers
Berlin Threat

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The three major Western powers today were reported to have maintained their absolute right to remain in Berlin in notes handed over to Russia.

The American, British and French notes were handed over as John McCloy, President Kennedy's special disarmament assistant, began talks with the Russians on disarmament.

The purpose of McCloy's talks is to try to agree on a forum for a disarmament conference. The meeting follows a two-week session held previously in Washington.

All three Western notes on Germany were reported to follow the same line, standing pat on Western insistence on continued rights of access to Berlin.

However, they also indicated readiness to enter talks on a German peace treaty while making it clear that the West would not accept dictated terms for such a treaty, informed sources said.

The American note replied to a Russian memorandum which was handed to President Kennedy during his talks in Vienna with Premier Khrushchev last month. The Russian memorandum called for a speedy German peace treaty.

The French and British notes replied to Russian communications on the same subject to British and French representatives at the Geneva talks on Laos several weeks ago.

Baseball
Immortal
Dies at 74

ATLANTA (AP) — Ty Cobb, the immortal Georgia Peach of baseball fame, died today. The 74-year-old former Detroit Tigers star died in Emory University Hospital where he had been a patient several times in the last two years. He had undergone treatment for diabetes, bursitis and a back injury sustained in a hunting accident in Idaho.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb was born Dec. 18, 1886, near Roylston, Ga. After playing sandlot ball in his home town, Cobb made his professional debut at 17 with Augusta, Ga., in the South Atlantic League.

24-YEAR CAREER
His historic big league career spanned 24 years, 22 with Detroit as an outfielder. He managed the Tigers six years and finished his major league career in 1928 with Philadelphia Athletics.

Cobb was a baseball wonder. One of the game's most aggressive players, he at one time held 90 records. Many still stand. His lifetime batting average was .367 and except for his first year he batted over .300 every season in the majors.

The Georgia Peach proved as sharp in the business world as on the diamond, amassing a fortune estimated as high as $3,000,000.

'OLD MASTERS' TAKEN

$2 Million
Art Theft

SAINT TROPEZ, France (AP) — Thieves stole 57 Impressionist paintings valued at nearly $2,000,000 from a museum here Sunday and carted them off by truck. It was France's biggest art robbery since the Mona Lisa was stolen in 1911.

The haul included masterpieces by Maurice Utrillo, Henri Matisse, Raoul Dufy and Pierre Bonnard. It was the sixth art robbery on the Riviera in the last 18 months.

The paintings stolen from the Annonciade Museum of Modern Art were part of a collection French industrialist Georges Grammont donated in 1955 to the town of Saint Tropez, his father's favorite vacation spot.

The stolen works, insured against fire but not theft, included Woman at the Window and The Gypsy by Matisse, The Jetty at Honfleur by Dufy and Saint Tropez Harbor by Bonnard.

The thieves left behind 43 paintings and several sculptures worth an estimated $1,000,000.

The museum, a converted chapel located in a pine grove, is not guarded during the night. A cleaning woman discovered the theft two hours before opening time.

Police said the thieves pried a grill from a door, forced a lock and left no tracks or fingerprints. A neighbor said she heard a truck roar away from the museum between 2 and 3 a.m.

Because art masterpieces cannot be disguised, virtually the only market for a stolen painting is a collector willing to enjoy his purchase in secret. The most famous theft of the Mona Lisa by Leonardo da Vinci from the Louvre, was the work of an Italian who felt it should be returned to its native Italy. The painting was found in Florence more than a year later.

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Million-dollar, drought-breaking rain showers swept across southern Alberta during the weekend and brought with them hundreds of thousands of dollars in hail and wind damage.

Hail the size of golf balls and tornado-like twisters caused extensive damage to cropland and demolished farm buildings in many districts of the south.

'Spelunkers' Trapped
In Cave

ORLEANS, Ind. (UPI) — A flooded crawl hole and "fantastic suction" of the underground Lost River today blocked skindivers searching for two explorers trapped in an unmapped limestone cave.

Three skindivers wormed and crawled their way 800 feet into the flooded cave where veteran "spelunkers" Ralph Moreland and Thomas Arnold, both 25-year-old graduate students from Indiana University, disappeared Sunday.

But the skindivers couldn't get through the entrance of a "crawl hole"—a passage so narrow a man can barely squeeze through it. The crawl hole entrance was under seven to eight feet of water and skindiver James Langhammer said the suction of the water racing into it was "fantastic."

Beyond the crawl hole, local farmers said, is a cavern where a man might stand. It was conceivable that the young spelunkers had found safety in an air pocket somewhere beyond. The rescue operation hinged on that hope.

U.K. Stocks Slashed
By Austerity Threat

(See page 5.)

LONDON (Reuters) — Millions of pounds today were slashed from prices on the London stock exchange in anticipation of austerity measures to deal with Britain's economic crisis.

Top industrial shares fell by up to two shillings (28 cents) in the first two hours trading and real estate investment shares were hard-hit by fears of curbs on building.

The pound, after opening firmer against the United States dollar, slipped back on the foreign exchange market and around noon was being quoted at $2.78 15-32.

The Canadian dollar fluctuated erratically, first easing 5-16 to $2.88 and then rallying to $2.88 15-32 against the pound.

Newspapers meanwhile took treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd's switch from a car to a motorcycle Saturday as symbolic of the belt-tightening facing Britons.

There were reports that the government might raise the bank rate from five to six per cent. The bank rate governs the amount people must pay to borrow money.

Insurance Fund
Main Object

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointment of a four-man special committee under the chairmanship of Ernest C. Gill of Toronto, president of Canada Life Insurance Company, to review the operations of the Unemployment Insurance Act was announced today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The committee, with powers of a royal commission to call witnesses, also is being empowered to study and report on measures needed to deal with seasonal winter unemployment and to correct any abuses or deficiencies it may find in the insurance plan.

Other members of the committee are Etienne Crevier, president of La Prevoyance d'Assurance Vie of Montreal; Dr. Joseph Richard Petrie of Montreal, a consulting economist; and Dr. John Deutsch, vice principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., who served as adviser to the special Senate committee on manpower and employment.

The new committee is the 11th such body appointed to carry out a special investigation of Canadian affairs since the Progressive Conservative government took power in 1957.

Mr. Diefenbaker, announcing appointment of the special committee following a morning cabinet meeting, declined to indicate when he hopes the committee will submit a report. He added:

"I want it at the earliest date we can get it."

Hearings Expected in Ottawa Only

He said the committee would hold public hearings, but he hoped that it would not have to travel outside of Ottawa.

It would be empowered "to inquire into and report on the suitability of scope, basic principles, and provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act."

Along with its study of seasonal unemployment benefits, the committee is being asked to look into the relationship between measures of support for the unemployed and other social security benefits.

At the start of the present parliamentary session last Nov. 17, the government announced it would bring in legislation to safeguard the basic purpose of the Unemployment Insurance Act, correct "abuses" and strengthen the insurance fund. This legislation was not introduced before Parliament recessed last Thursday for an eight-week summer break.

The fund had fallen to $110,051,922 last May 31 from its peak of $926,726,830 at Dec. 31, 1956.

The Commons public accounts committee, in a report July 1, said it "views with alarm the sharp reduction in the balance of the credit of the fund."

The committee recommended "that the entire matter undergo immediate and careful study and that action be taken to re-establish and maintain the fund on a basis consistent with insurance principles."

The committee said change in the Insurance Act and regulations have broadened coverage given by the fund and decreased the emphasis on insurance principles recognized when the fund was established.

The government has had several warnings about the impact on the fund from growing levels of unemployment which have been higher at the end of each business cycle than they were after the previous cycle.

Last September the advisory committee to the Unemployment Insurance Commission recommended that the federal treasury put up $131,000,000 to replenish the fund to cover extra benefits paid to fishermen and to seasonal unemployed during the winter.

'THAT'S IT, I QUIT' — BUS DRIVER

He Flapped, Flipped, Fled

NANAIMO (CP) — Bus driver Geoffrey Hirst got fed up with the way Canadians drive, so he quit his job — in the middle of a run from Nanaimo to Campbell River.

He wheeled his intercity bus to the side of the Island Highway north of Qualicum, about 30 miles north of Nanaimo, and stopped.

After picking up his jacket and cash box, he turned to the passengers and politely announced: "That's it, I quit."

Then he walked off, leaving 41 passengers bound for Campbell River to fend for themselves. A relief driver arrived after a phone call to the bus company and they completed the trip 1½ hours behind schedule.

Bus driver Hirst, a Campbell River resident who came from England 12 years ago, had run into one harassing highway incident after another, twice being trapped behind slow-moving vehicles and then — at a scheduled stop — being berated by a motorist at whom he had sounded his bus horn earlier.

"I'm getting fed up with the way Canadians drive," said Mr. Hirst today. "They just drive for the maximum inconvenience of everyone."

SMUGGLERS TERRORIZE PEOPLE BROUGHT OVER

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's Chinese population has not been co-operating in the current investigation of the immigrant smuggling racket, Justice Minister Fulton said in an interview Sunday.

He told reporters leaders of the Chinese immigrant smuggling racket are "terrorizing the people they brought over."

Mr. Fulton said the government would crack down because of failure of attempts to persuade illegal immigrants to come forward and give information.

Union Snubs Labor Minister

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — The 12,000-strong Oshawa automotive workers' union snubbed Labor Minister Starr by not sending him his customary invitation to the annual union picnic Saturday.

Mr. Starr, a former mayor of Oshawa who attended the picnic for 15 years, said he was "hurt" by the snub, delivered because he refused last May to attend a meeting to discuss unemployment here.

Malcolm Smith, president of Local 222 of the United Auto Workers (UAW), said "If Mr. Starr hasn't got the time to attend a meeting of the unemployed here, he is not welcome at our picnic."

About 25,000 persons attended the outing at Lakeview Park.

Father, Son Die In Rushing Tide On Mudflats

(Compiled from CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — Tearfully sobbing "come back darling" a woman Sunday night vainly tried to revive her drowned husband with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Mrs. Carl Otterman collapsed when she realized her 35-year-old husband was dead.

Mr. Otterman collapsed and drowned trying to save his five-year-old son Glen, trapped by a fast-running Boundary Bay mudflats tide. The water was only waist-deep.

The boy disappeared in a tide channel between sand bars and is presumed drowned.

Minutes earlier, the father carried another son, aged seven to safety as the incoming tide swirled around them.

A friend recovered Mr. Otterman's body and carried it nearly a mile to shore.

After Mrs. Otterman's attempts at respiration failed two doctors also were unsuccessful and abandoned a resuscitation attempt after an hour.

Mr. Otterman and three of his children were playing on the mudflats with another man and a child when the tide started to come in.

A police officer said: "They completely fatigued themselves. When the tide started rushing in like a river they found themselves forced into a spot where a deep tide channel cut them off from the shore."

CHEST OPENED
NEW WESTMINSTER — Doctors opened the chest of Albert Foster Saturday and massaged his heart to revive him after he collapsed with a piece of meat stuck in his throat.

Foster was eating in a cafe when he suddenly keeled over. An inhalator was summoned and he was taken to hospital where doctors cut into his chest and massaged his heart.

RADIO RULES 'OVERHAUL' PROPOSED

OTTAWA (CP) — The Board of Broadcast Governors proposed today a major overhaul in radio broadcasting regulations.

Setting Aug. 22 for a public hearing on the changes, the board released the text of the proposed new regulations.

It included new provisions authorizing the board to grant permission for a private radio network in Canada.

The clause dealing with political broadcasts is revamped to give the board power to issue directives to individual stations or network operators on the proportion of time devoted to partisan political programs, advertisements or announcements and on the assignment of time to all political parties and rival candidates.
